Imperial Millions!

—By Julian Hawthorne.

This story will commence in the INTELLIGENCER in a few days. The author, Julian Hawthorne, is generally recognized as one of the foremost American novelists, and some time since received a prize of $10,000 for writing the best American story. Keep a sharp look-out for the first chapter.

CITY AND DISTRICT

This is "All Fools Day."

Any hat in Schuster's store for $1.50.

Jimmy R. Co. of Toronto, has been engaged as trainer for the Brockville Boat Club.

Some of the small stores were picked off from the wheelmen would appreciate it.

The vital statistics for the month of March were: Births, 13; marriages, 12; deaths, 7.

Wilkinson & Co.'s $3 hats for $1.50 at Schuster's.

If you lose anything, or want anything, and wish to obtain your object quickly, advertise in the INTELLIGENCER.

We have some extra bargains in ladies' Oxford shoes. All shoes in stock before 10th Feb. We offer good reductions also on misses' shoes.—VERMILYEA & SON.

The Forest and Stream Club's series of progressive pedro matches came to an end last night. R. Tuite was first; Alex. Tindale and James Glick tied for second and third.

Advertisers using the two local Liberal papers pay two prices for one class of goods, namely, only the Liberals of this section divided in two classes.

The Slater Boots for gentlemen are still keeping to the front. The spring styles shown by Haines & Lockett, and the sales were never so large. Have you seen them?

The INTELLIGENCER has the largest circulation of any daily newspaper in the city. Its weekly circulation is twice as large as that of any other weekly in the country.

The W. C. T. U. have secured Mr. F. S. Spencer, of Toronto, one of Canada's best speakers, for a lecture next Tuesday night in the lecture room of Bridge street Church. Kindly placed at their disposal. Chair taken at eight o'clock. Silver collection at the door.

Book Binding, the only one in the city, at the level of the city. Book Binding, Repairing, Lettering and Ruling promptly and neatly done.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stokes were given a farewell party by about 100 of their friends at the home of Mrs. J. H. Haines, at the corner of their new home near Tweed. They were presented with a set of dishes and an easy chair.

A cow, the property of Mr. A. Ketcheson, 8th Con. Rowan, yesterday gave birth to three calves, all large and healthy. The heaviest calf weighed fifty pounds each.

General Baggage-master Quick, of the Grand Trunk, has sent out a circular to the baggage agents, notifying them that certain new regulations which were some time ago decided upon, go into effect April 1. The regulations among other things the necessity of handling baggage.

As I am leaving Belleville for the Pacific coast I wish to thank my numerous friends for their kind and generous patronage during the last 25 years. During my absence, to all my old customers and any others requiring the services of an expert optician, I would refer them to Mr. J. A. McFie, optician with Angus & Co., Jewellers, of this city, as a thoroughly competent, painstaking and successful optician. S. A. SPANGHERN.

MADOC'S RICHES.

Diamond Mine a "Bonanza" -- A Smelter for Madoc Village.

(North Hastings Review.)

THE DIAMOND MINE.

Without doubt the Diamond mine, owned by Mr. D. E. K. Stewart, of this village, is a veritable Klondike. The mine is situated on lot 14, in the 10th con. of Madoc, and comprises the mineral right of 69 acres.

In December last Mr. Stewart, having satisfied himself as to the richness of the mine by local assays, sent a series of eight samples of the ore, taken from different parts of the property, and in no case showing the least trace of free gold, which abounds in the ore, to the British Columbia Smelting and Refining Co., of Trail, B. C., for an assay. The returns came back dated January 2nd, 1898, signed by J. V. John, assayer for the above company, and showed the value of the samples to range from $160 to $840 of gold to the ton of 2,000 lbs., besides a percentage of silver, arsenic and other products. The samples were pronounced by the managers of the Trail smelter to be the richest they had ever assayed. The following quotation from the letter of the manager, Mr. F. Aug. Heinze, accompanying the return of the assay, will show the opinion placed by such experts on the value of the Diamond mine:

"The sample which you forwarded to Trail are of extraordinary richness, so rich in fact that the property, with the showing as indicated in the report you forwarded, would be of very great value. But very little money would be necessary to demonstrate the property worth millions if the same assay values should continue."

The vein in the mine is from 4 to 5 feet wide, and has been stripped for a distance of about 600 feet. The shaft is sunk about 15 feet. It is a fissure vein, well defined, with talcose slate walls, the ore being a hard white mica in the quartz, and shows free gold in both mispickel and quartz from wall to wall.

An English syndicate, of which Sir Charles Tupper is president, is negotiating for the purchase of this mine. Their offer is $25,000 each, and one-quarter of the stock at which it is floated by the company, subject to verification of expert's report by the syndicate's mining engineer. The syndicate will visit the property towards the end of April.

PROPOSED SELLER.

Mr. Hungerford came to Madoc this week with the following business-like proposition:—He undertook to establish in the village a 10-ton Water Jacket Smelter, for the reduction of all kinds of minerals, as well as for the manufacture and packing of asbestos mineral wool, and an arsenic smelter, in consideration of exemption from taxation for a term of years, and the payment of $100 per year for five years towards the interest on buildings, for which stock in the company would be given as equivalent. It is needless to say that 4000 shares of stock were taken by business men in the village on short notice. Mr. Hungerford is now in operation on the old White quarry premises, and we expect within a few days to see work on this new enterprise commenced.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to cure.

A Powerful Company.

Presenting Alex. Dumas' great romantic drama adapted by Mr. Donald Robertson will be the attraction at the opera house for two performances, namely on Saturday afternoon and on Sunday evening. The new comedy, "The White Mouse," and at night Dumas' famous romantic drama, "The Man in the Iron Mask." The two stars, Mr. Donald Robertson and Miss Brandon Douglas, are well known favorites and no doubt they will be greeted by large houses at both performances. They have a most excellent company, magnificent wardrobe and beautiful effects, and it is safe to state that no more enjoyable performance will be given than that of "The Man in the Iron Mask." Seats at all "Riggs". Popular prices, for which see the advertisement.

Magistrate Flint's Court.

COMPOUND ASSAULT.

Mr. Mary Ann Labash, of Glen Miller, charged Levi Ryckman with assault and battery and he laid a charge of assault against her. The Magistrate fined him $5 in each case and costs. She was only taxed costs in her case.

ALL ABOUT A WATCH.

W. Airhart charged O. Wardhaugh with selling him a watch that was not as represented. The deft. swore he agreed if the watch did not run satisfactorily to make it do so, and he was willing to carry out his agreement. Case enlarged for a week.

UNLICENSED BUTCHERS.

A number of butchers were summoned to answer the charge of selling meat without license. The case was adjourned for a week.

Could do No Work.

"Large snow broke out on my body, head and limbs, also on my hands, so that I could not do any work, and my hair came out of my head."—Mrs. J. H. Haines, who began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. When I had taken several bottles the sores and itching disappeared and I was cured."—Mrs. J. G. Brown, Bradford, Ont.

Customs Returns.

The customs returns of the port of Belleville for the past month of March compare as follows with those for the same month of 1897:

1897 Value, $7,885.90 Duty, $7,885.90

1898 Value, $3,172 Exports, $3,172

Imports, $6,080.00 $4,654.4

Exports, $7,725

Imports, $6,147

Exports, $3,691

MACKENZIE AND MANN.

A Correspondent Interviews the Disappointed Contractors.

"The Contract is off, That's All"—Nothing to Say Beyond That. Has Either of Them.

(Corr. Mail and Empire)

OTAWA, March 31.

The two disappointed contractors, Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann, who have been here for several weeks helping the bill along, are still in evidence. They were both interviewed by our correspondent to-day.

Mr. William Mackenzie was asked what could be done now that the bill had been thrown out.

"WHAT THE CONTRACTORS SAY."

"I have nothing to say," he replied.

"The bill is dead and that's the end of it."

Asked as to whether there was any truth in the report that an effort would be made to effect a new arrangement as a compromise, Mr. Mackenzie replied:—"I know nothing about any compromise. What compromise can there be? The bill is defeated and the contract off. That's all. Good morning."

"Are you men still going on with the work on preparing for the construction of the railway which the bill provided for?"

"I know nothing about that part of the business. Mr. Mann attends to that, and can tell you more than I can. Good afternoon."

MR. MANN'S VIEW.

The other contractor, Mr. Donald D. Mann, was, if possible, less communicative.

He was asked by our correspondent if the defeat of the bill would mean the cessation of work on the road. "I have nothing to say," replied Mr. Mann.

"Were you surprised at the large majority in the Senate against the bill?" was the next question.

"I have nothing to say," repeated the big contractor.

Valuable House Burned.

At 3:40 this morning Mrs. T. S. Carman, Dundas st., was awakened by a glow on her window and she aroused her husband, who discovered flames bursting from his unoccupied house across the street. He sent in an alarm and the firemen responded promptly, but before they arrived flames were bursting through the roof and chimney, and all they could do was to save the barn.

The residence, which was valued at $4,000, was built about ten or eleven years ago by Geo. Downey and was bought by Mr. Carman about seven years since. It was occupied by the late Harry Fowell up to the time of his death, since which time it has been vacant. It was insured in the Western for $2,000 and in the Perth Mutual for $500.

The cause of the fire is unknown and is another added to the list of mysterious fires in Belleville.

Your Boy's Clothes

Bother you. Doesn't he wear them out? You know it. We know it. The boy who wears out his clothes, wears out his mother's nerves. Why worry over making boys' clothes? Work at something less tedious and buy the clothes. It is easy to pay you. We have everything ready to wear. No boy but what we can fit. No style but what we can furnish. All our clothing is of the highest grade and is in style. One is the best and the next best is a way behind. We've hundreds of sizes and styles; we've hundreds of prices, none are high; we trim our profits so the prices shall be—Quick & Robertson.

A Former Resident Re-Visiting us.

We had the pleasure of a call this morning from Mr. Charles F. Holden and his daughter, Miss May E. Holden. Mr. Holden is a grandson of our esteemed townsman Mr. Sawyer, and has been for a number of years a resident of Toledo, Ohio. He learned the art preservative in the Ontario office and afterwards in this office. He has been away from Belleville 18 years.

Who is the "Man in the Iron Mask?"

Go to the opera house on Saturday night and get your answer.

Married at Toronto.

Mr. Jas. E. Jones, barrister, Toronto, eldest son of the Rev. Septimus Jones, formerly Rector of Christ Church, was married at Toronto on Wednesday to Miss Florence Hooper. The event was a most brilliant affair. Mr. Jones will be remembered by many friends here.

$1.50 hats for 75c. at Schuster's.

Something Worth Remembering.

March has been a record breaker worth remembering. Not a flake of snow fell in this city during the whole month. This is worth cutting out and handing down to "generations yet unborn."

Five Spring Overcoats.

The Oak Hall invite you to make an inspection of new $10! light overcoats. Different styles, fine trimming, perfect fit and good wearing. These coats we put against the best $18 and $20 custom-made garments. We save you money and give you perfect satisfaction.

Special arrangements have been made for a grand sale of the opera house on Saturday afternoon. Seats on sale at Riggs' Music store. Price 25c, 50c.

Bicycle Boots.

We have the latest thing in Gents' Bicycle Boots, and we have not forgotten the boys as well as the men. We would like to show them to you.—Haines & Lockett.

All using Note Heads, Bull Heads and Statements can have them printed and ruled from $1.25 upwards. All goods of first quality at INTELLIGENCER Job Office.

Geo. Ritchie & Co.

Jacket Sale. Carpets.

We will continue our special sale of Ladies' Cloth Jackets for a short time longer. Many ladies have availed themselves of this opportunity to secure a good garment at such moderate cost. We have still a number of splendid bargains left.

Remember the prices—all at

$1.00 and $2.00.

The original prices of these ranged from $5.00 to $18.00 each.

By slight alteration any of these can be made into latest style coats.

We Have

Double the Stock of Carpets

We had last season, and the prices are going to be in accord with hard times. Facts are we must sell Carpets regardless of price. In Furniture Coverings we claim to show the best assorted stock ever shown in Belleville. We have Carpet Poles and Window Shades galore. Seventeen years of our life has been given up to home fixings, and we profess to know twelve or thirteen things about this business. Can our experience be of use to you?

AWFUL MASSACRE

Thousands of Indian Women and Children Killed.

Hong Kong, April 3.—The rising of the Colinas in Zambales has been subdued.
The troops killed thousands of Indians,
including hundreds of women and children.
A rebel meeting in Manila was surprised by civil guards, who killed 11 in the house and 60 prisoners. All the prisoners were shot the same day without a trial.
Six of the guards were wounded and two killed.

Zambales is a province of Luzon, the largest of the Philippine Islands, on which Manila, the capital, is situated. It is a long and narrow belt, stretched about 90 miles on the west side of the island, between the Bay of Languegan on the north and that of Subic on the south. The nearest point of the province is about 40 miles from Manila. The capital is Iba, and the population is estimated at 94,000.

$3.75 Wilkinson & Co. hats for $1.50 at Schuster's.

A Landmark Removed.

April 4—To-day commences the demolition of one of the oldest ecclesiastical landmarks on the Bay of Quinte.

The old stone church in the Dempsey neighborhood on the front of Ameliasburg is one of the oldest, if not the oldest, church in the Township, and now in the twentieth year of its erection. It is to be taken down to make way for a more commodious and imposing structure, better adapted to the necessities of the present day. This church was built as a union church nearly two years before the old stone church of Rednersville, and standing as it does in connection with one of the most beautiful and commodious cemeteries on the Bay or in the County, has been a rallying center for some of the largest and most imposing funerals ever witnessed in the country, and in the lovely God's acre repose the mortal remains of most of the leading families of western Ameliasburg. The land for the church was originally donated by Mr. Jas.
Peck, one of the old settlers of honored memory, and in its erection the families of the Pecks, Dempseys, Onderducks, Weeses and Bonters were deeply interested. The purpose now is to build a beautiful brick church, which will be all of brick, and the descendants of the honored dead,
who built so wisely and well fifty years ago,
will have a fitting place in their plans and a quarter mile, in 35 years, will be considering the constant demands upon the capacity of the church for funeral occasions, and which will continue for generations, it is feared that the Board might make a mistake if, as is reported, they built the new church without a gallery.

A Remarkable Cow.

To the Editor of the INTELLIGENCER.

DEAR SIR,—Knowing the interest you take in the material welfare and furnishing news to your numerous readers, I have thought it might be of some utility to the agricultural part of the community to learn what can be accomplished in the dairy business. During the season of 1897
a cow that I purchased from Thos. Black-ard, of the front of Sidney, gave me 9000
lbs. of milk—something like three times as much as the average throughout the country—and I believe if a more careful selection and weeding out of the ordinary cows from our herds were practiced, we would gain greater profit from a less number and we are doing at present. If there are any of your readers who have a cow, or better yield of milk I should be pleased to hear their statement in your valuable paper.

Two Fires.

At 5:40 yesterday morning fire was discovered in Walter Wheeler's house at 45 West Dundas St. Although the firemen responded promptly quite a lot of damage was done to the interior of the house, which was owned by J. F. Wills. The contents were insured for $200, which will more than cover the loss. The fire started in a partition from a defective stove pipe.
The firemen were called to John Hunter's house on Reid St. at 12:30 yesterday.
A fire had started in a clothes closet and it burned the contents of the closet. The cause of the origin is unknown. The damage to the house, which was owned by Mrs. Geo.
Andrews, will amount to about $20. The household effects were insured in the British America for $1,000. Loss on contents was small.

BELLEVILLE MAN KILLED.

Patrick Wims Met His Death on a Railroad in Washington.

Patrick Wims, a former well-known resident of Belleville, was killed at Everett,
State of Washington, on March 11th, while walking on a railroad track. He was quite deaf and did not hear the approach of a train, which struck him in the back and killed him instantly. He had been visiting his son Thomas, in Everett,
for seven months.

Deceased was for many years a resident of Belleville. He leaves two brothers, Peter, of this city, and Thomas, of Tyedings. He is survived by two sons and two daughters, namely, James, of Bay City, Mich.; Thomas, Everett, Wash.; Mrs.
J. B. Dabner, Tacoma, Ore.; Mrs. Capt.
Richards, San Francisco. Mr. Wims was 70 years of age.

"The Man in the Iron Mask"

Mr. Donald Robertson and Miss Brandon Douglas, with a capable company of players, presented the romantic tragedy,
"The Man in the Iron Mask," to a fair audience at the Carman opera house Saturday evening. Mr. Robertson is a clever young actor and will make a name for himself at no distant day. Miss Douglas is a charming young woman and plays her role exceptionally well. The support was all that could be desired. "The White Mouse," given at the matinee in the afternoon, was most pleasing to a small audience. Manager Adams has secured a return date with them.

Oratory Competition.

The annual competition in pulpit oratory
at Albert College took place on Saturday and the strife for the medal among the student orators who entered was keen and exciting. The judges were Rev. J. B.
Hill, Rev. J. R. Rice and Mr. Thos.
Ritchie. The tests were the recitation of a selection of prose or poetry, the reading of a chapter of scripture and the reading of a hymn. Mr. A. W. Olson was given the medal, but there were one or two others
very close to him in marks.

—It is a little remarkable, but Tarte's initials (J. L.) are the same as Judas Iscariot's.

—The Toronto Globe is advising prospectors on their way to the Yukon to buy their outfits and supplies in the United States. Mail and Empire.

—That utter overthrow of the Yukon Bill in the Senate was responsible for the arrival in this happy country of that famous old warrior, General Satisfaction. Toronto Telegram.

—The reduction of the savings bank deposit interest by that every man for himself Government, at Ottawa, will in no way help the poor man who keeps his small savings in the Government institution.

—True Canadians must be fatigued by the "rant and rant and fustian" of all these eleven-hour patriots, who are trying to make a noise against the Senate. Telegram.

—Mr. Fielding is going to reduce the interest on Savings bank deposits from 3 to 2 1/2 per cent. This will enable the poor to contribute to the deals by which the rich profit. Mail and Empire.

—The Senate of Canada can have no stronger certificate of character than the denunciation of La Patrie and the Drummond dealers and The Globe and the Crown's Neaters. Toronto News.

—When the Conservatives are returned to power, as even Liberals now admit they will be some day, the country will look to the Senate to continue to stand guard over the treasury as it is now doing. Montreal Star.

—The intense displeasure exhibited by the Globe newspaper against the Canadian Senate is naught compared to the intense displeasure that will be manifested by the Canadian people against the aforesaid newspaper for advocating Yukon bill in behalf of United States cities.

—The Court of Appeal has decided that the Toronto Railway is assessable on its trolley poles, wires and rails, which will make an addition to its taxes of $7,000 to $8,000 a year, should the judgment stand. All such cases, as a rule, go to the Privy Council before they end.

—The time may come when Canada has a legitimate grievance against Sir Mac, and in that hour the country will not have to take the Crown's Nest Pass Brigades or a journalist's "Sissy" like the Globe for its part in a Holy War upon the Senate. Telegram.

—The Government may be able to come to a reasonable arrangement with Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann, or they may undertake to build a real all-Canadian railway to real all-Canadian port themselves. In any case they could be sure of the moral support of the all-Canadian Conservative majority in the Senate.

—The Hamilton Times sneers at Sir Mackenzie Bowell's English. We did not know that Sir Mac was like Hon. George Mackenzie, Minister of Finance, but it doesn't matter. Having read Sir Mac's speech on the Yukon railway steel, we know that he can speak mighty good Canadian. Hamilton Spectator.

—The Toronto World says: "Our politics would suddenly jump a mile higher, and in that hour the country will not have to take the Crown's Nest Pass Brigades or a journalist's 'Sissy' like the Globe for its part in a Holy War upon the Senate. Telegram.

—Will Messrs. Sifton and Tarte be compelled by their leaders (who, no doubt, see the world occasionally) to retire? We do not say, as Sir Wilfrid Laurier said, "I am sticking to my Ministers, no matter what their faults or blunders may be."

—The frenzy of some of the Government organs over the defeat of the atrocious Yukon deal has no parallel except in the frenzy of the same organs over the action of the Senate when it forced the Government to pay a great deal less for the Drummond County Railway than the Government had arranged to pay. The high price of the land was not the only consideration, and the Government is not so stupid as to pretend that it is the indispensable of the affair. Montreal Star.

endeavors to keep up with the way, when he can keep up with them—that the Government would not dissolve and appeal this Port Wrangle. Railway questions the people, no matter what action the Senate might take. This declaration ought to mean, in view of the fact that the Government intends to abandon its extravagant misit plan for building a tramway in the west place, without further delay, that the Government is a fool.

—Montreal Star.

The Government has stuck out one idea of economy, which it is working with vigor. Last year it reduced the rate of interest paid to post office savings bank deposits from 3 1/2 to 3 per cent. The anticipated saving of $220,000 represents considerably more than the total by which the ordinary expenditure of 1898-99 is expected to fall under the 1898-99. Sir Wilfrid Laurier is taking it out of the thirty—Montreal Gazette.

How Dunes Are Formed and Buried. Along the shores of coasts and other large bodies of water, especially in the region of the estuaries of large rivers, there are long, narrow, low ridges of sand. It is not within the scope of this article to describe the formation of these sand banks. It is sufficient to say, therefore, that they usually begin as long sand bars, behind which there are shoals of still water. These shallow bays in the course of time fill up with mud, becoming salt marshes interested by thoroughfare, salt ponds and winding creeks. In the meantime the long, flat sand bars have developed into sea islands or beaches. When the tide falls, the sand of the shore, driven into powder by the waves and driven by the an and wind, blows in the sand of the prevailing winds, usually inland. The sand moves like snow until it reaches the dunes, when it is blown into hills and mounds, equal in height to the obstruction. A section through a dune shows a better view of the sand, the sand being deposited in thin layers, always varying, however, with the nature of the sand, the velocity of the wind, and the obstructions, large or small, which it encounters. These dunes are not buried by the sea, but by the sand, the sand being blown forward and backward, changing, in fact, with every copious of the wind, and almost incessantly. In the dunes, the sand is blown in a stinging, blinding sand blast in times of gale. In spite, however, of all these minor changes, the dunes are not blown away. They have only a few inches a year, in the direction of prevailing winds, a great deal of sand is blown in. In fact, the sand is blown in a stinging, blinding sand blast in times of gale. The Post Office and Mr. Pearce's Store At Norwood Burglarized.

The Safe in the Store was Cracked and $200 of Post Office Funds and $2,000 of Mr. Pearce's Personal Funds and Securities Were Secured—One of the Robbers Caught.

Professional crackmen visited Norwood on Monday night and forced an entrance to the post office, went through the till, entered the adjoining store, Mr. J. B. Pearce & Son, blew open the safe and got away with papers, securities and cash amounting in all, as far as can be estimated at present, to about $2,200.

The burglar went to the section house of the C.P.R. and secured a crow bar and a sledge hammer. They then forced the back door leading into the post office. The post office is in the new Pearce block, and Mr. J. B. Pearce's large general store is next door. Mr. Pearce being postmaster, there is an inside entrance from the office to the store. The burglars forced the till in the post office, but found nothing. They did not seem to have spent much time bothering with the mail matter, but proceeded into Mr. Pearce's store. The safe stood on the landing at the rear of the store, and above the level of the shop. On this landing Mr. Pearce had his office. The burglars had attached the safe with combination, and Mr. Pearce thinks they used nitro-glycerine in blowing the safe open. The explosion was successful, and the door was opened. The explosive that was used set fire to the floor and a hole was burned through the landing under the safe. It was the smoke from the fire that attracted the attention of Mr. Tucker, who is in the same block. In seeking out the fire the burglary was discovered.

After opening the safe the burglars carried the till to the C.P.R. wharf and there smashed them open and rifled them. About $250 in stamps and cash of the post office funds and $200 in notes, securities and cash belonging to Mr. Pearce were secured.

One of the burglars has been arrested by J. B. Pearce at Havelock. In his possession were the stamps stolen and a burglar's outfit. He was heavily armed with a 44 calibre revolver. His two companions escaped on the C.P.R. passenger train. Conductor Smith and the porter tried to arrest them from Havelock and reached Ontario Junction. He drew a revolver and threatened to shoot if they did not leave him. They having no revolvers had to leave him. He escaped from the train.

TEMPERANCE PROGRESS.

Mr. F. S. Spence Speaks Under the Auspices of the W.C.T.U.

About two hundred ladies and gentlemen gathered in Bridge at church lecture room last evening to hear an address by Mr. F. S. Spence, of Toronto, who had been invited here by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Mr. Hugh Walker occupied the chair, and was in turn upon the platform, beside the lecturer, were Rev. C. E. McIntyre, Rev. V. H. Cowser, Rev. Dr. Galbraith and Rev. J. J. Rice. After devotional exercises the Chairman introduced Mr. Spence.

He was pleased to have an opportunity of addressing the people of Belleville. He had been asked to speak on the safe and the late Frances E. Willard, but would change a little and deal with the progress of temperance during her time and the outlook for the future. Miss Willard he characterized as one of the most unselfish, tender-hearted Christian women that ever lived. Mr. T. Staud had once said that if he lived in a life of sin he would be like a man who had been asked to speak on the safe and the late Frances E. Willard, but would change a little and deal with the progress of temperance during her time and the outlook for the future. Miss Willard he characterized as one of the most unselfish, tender-hearted Christian women that ever lived.

The outlook for the temperance cause was very bright, and he felt exceedingly sanguine regarding it. He felt that the cause of temperance would be wiped out as he was that the sun would be wiped out this morning. Temperance was the result of forces that could not end otherwise. It was the outcry of the soul that had seen and felt the sting of strong drink, and were the liquor laws wiped from the statute books, the people would forget that such people as Neal Dow and Frances Willard ever lived and the liquor traffic started again without any restrictions. In time the temperance movement would again be where it is to-day. It is God's cause and therefore bound to win.

Miss Willard was born in 1839 and the first real temperance movement was started in Ireland in 1858 by Father Mathew. Seventy years ago there was not a temperance organization in existence, yet there were men who were willing to sell themselves as slaves for the cause of the gospel of the law. She said that the movement hardly knew what it wanted except it was to curb drunkenness, and that men were willing to sell themselves as slaves for the cause of the gospel of the law. She said that the movement hardly knew what it wanted except it was to curb drunkenness, and that men were willing to sell themselves as slaves for the cause of the gospel of the law.

The speaker then referred to the progress made towards stamping out the traffic in the Dominion. The consumption of liquor was growing less by the year. In Nova Scotia, outside of Richmond and Halifax, no liquor was sold. In Ontario, the traffic was growing to a similar state of affairs. In Prince Edward Island, no liquor was sold outside of Charlottetown. In Quebec the traffic was growing to a similar state of affairs. In the North West and British Columbia the laws were much more strict than in the Dominion. This was encouraging, but there was still room for improvement. In Canada alone three thousand lives were sacrificed to drink every year, and 75 per cent of the crime was traceable to liquor.

There would be a plebiscite on this important question; the Dominion Parliament could not block the wheels of progress. There was a great deal of intelligent appreciation of the temperance movement that never before. Business men were becoming alive to the fact that the liquor traffic was their worst enemy. There was no more business about liquor selling than about sheep stealing. The production of wealth was business. He illustrated how the liquor traffic was their worst enemy. There was no more business about liquor selling than about sheep stealing. The production of wealth was business. He illustrated how the liquor traffic was their worst enemy.

The world needed to-day men and women who could give God all the energies He had endowed them with. The young people were building up the requisite forces. The W.C.T.U. was doing a grand work in a quiet way. There would be a day when a political leader would have to take up this subject, and when he did the liquor traffic would be buried so deep that it would never come up again. He addressed the audience to live as Miss Willard did, close to God and close to men.

Rev. J. J. Rice moved a vote of thanks to the lecturer and was seconded by Mr. W. R. Aylsworth and carried by a standing vote. The meeting broke up with the singing of a hymn.

IT IS BLOOD MONEY.

THAT WHICH IS WON FROM OTHERS WITHOUT VALUE GIVEN.

GAMBLER'S DOWNWARD PATH.

A World-Wide Evil Which Has Been the Cause of the World for Centuries.

Washington, April 3.—Rev. Dr. Talmage preached this morning from the text, "Acquaintance—that is to say, the field of blood." He said:

The money that Judas gave for surrendering Christ was used to purchase a graveyard. As the money was blood money, the ground bought by it was called in the Syrian tongue Acheldam, meaning "the field of blood." Well, there is one word I want to write to-day over every man's door, where wages are earned and every policeman and every gambler and every man and woman let for sums of money, large or small, and that is a word incarnated with the life of innumerable victims—ACHELDAM.

The gambling spirit, which is at all times a spontaneous and ever and sweeps over the country like an epidemic, poisoning the veins of the nation, and from which all the villages, towns and cities are now suffering.

While among my hearers and readers are those who have passed on into the afternoon of life and the shadows are lengthening and the light of the dawn of the setting sun, a large number of them are in early life, and the morning is only beginning to dawn.

Some years ago when an association for the suppression of gambling was organized an agent of the association came to a prominent citizen and asked him to patronize the society. He said: "No; I can have no interest in such an organization. I am in nowise affected by the evil."

At that very time his son, who was his partner in business, was one of the heaviest players in a famous gambling establishment. Another refused his patronage on the same ground, saying that his first bookkeeper, though receiving a salary of only $4,000, was lost to him for $100,000 one night.

How to cure headache.—Some people suffer from headache every day with headache. There is rest neither day nor night until the nerves are all unstrung.

Love and war go hand in hand. Even the din of battle has a sort of engagement ring. The competitors of Parmelee's Pills are constant receiving letters similar to the following, which explains itself.

Money saved and pain relieved by the leading household remedy, Dr. Thomas' Pain-Expeller. It is a small quantity of which usually suffices to cure a cough, heal a sore, cut, bruise or sprain, inflame, rheumatism, neuralgia, excoriated nipples, or inflamed breast.

where his family lives. But gambling does not in that way expose its victims. The gambler must be satisfied with the gambler's passion, yet you may discover it by the greed in his eyes, the hardness of his features, the nervous restlessness of the forehead and the embittered expression of the mouth.

Again, this sin works ruin by killing the man's mind. The use of the gambling table will not be content with slow work. He will try to win the use of the table to make this $50 in my store when I can make five times that in half an hour.

Any trade or occupation that is of use to the community is a good thing. The interests of society by the cleanliness of the street. The cat pays for the fragments of his old and keeping back the pestilence. The fly that takes the sweetness from the drops of the cup, compensates by purifying it by old and keeping back the pestilence.

Furthermore, this sin is the source of dishonesty. The game of hazard itself is often a cheat. How many tricks and deceptions in the dealing of the cards? The opponent's hand is oftentimes found out by card. Cards are marked so that they may be designated from the hand.

An Arrangement of Five Days Granted by Spain on Certain Conditions. The Conditions Attached to the Decree. The Cuban Claim That They Have at Last Been Recognized by the Spaniards. President McKinley's Message. The Spanish Minister for Congress for This Cause.

HAVANA, April 11.—Nothing can better show the intensely bitter feeling entertained for Americans by Spanish officials here than the attitude of the Spanish Consul-General, Don Juan de la Puente, who when he called at the palace to pay his respects to Capt. Gen. Blanco, the Governor-General of the Island before leaving for Key West.

Consul-General de la Puente, the palace Saturday morning after having completed the transfer of the archives to the British Consul-General, and in the afternoon he was seen by the British Consul-General, who was seen by the British Consul-General, who was seen by the British Consul-General.

THE MESSAGE GOES JUST THE SAME.

The President Will Send It to Congress as Settled on Last Week.

Washington, April 11.—The President will send in his message to-day just the same. That message will not be changed or altered in the slightest degree. The only thing that can change or delay, they say at the White House, will be the completion and absence of lack of time.

The representatives of the Cuban Government say that all talk of an armistice is a fallacy. They say the Cubans would refuse to negotiate along armistice lines. Senator Quesada said that the Cubans gained their liberty or it had been in their grasp, and that they would not throw away the fruits of their victory by fighting the Spaniards.

"The Spaniards," he said, "have lied to us so many times that we believe nothing they say. They can trick us no more. They cannot lie to us again. We will enter into no further agreement with them. This much can be said with perfect safety. No armistice proposition will pass the Senate. The President's message, nor will such a plan alter the fact that now threatens between the United States and Spain. Independence for Cuba and autonomy for the Maine are what we are looking for. And we are going to have both."

Expects Further Postponement.

Madrid, April 11.—It is believed that the presentation of President McKinley's message to Congress will be postponed until Friday. The Spanish Government is expected to make a statement to the press on Friday.

El Correo (official) says: "While America has asked for an armistice, Spain refused, and to the voice of Europe and the Pope even Spain, without discussion, has accepted the armistice proposed in the interests of peace."

WHY?

Because (instead of having three and four point bearings like

The Crew Got Scared.
Portland, Eng., April 15.—The new United States cruiser Topeka (formerly Diogenes) and the torpedo boat Somers, which were en route for the United States, put in here last night. Such a heavy sea was encountered that the Somers was almost buried, and it was deemed safer to return. About thirty of the Topeka's crew refused to sail in her, necessitating the shipping of others to fill their places.

Madrid.

Washington, April 12.—The State Department yesterday received a communication from the Spanish Minister here, by which he delivered to the department. The proclamation is as follows:

"His Majesty's Government, yielding to the religious wish expressed by his Holiness the Pope, has been pleased to decree a suspension of hostilities with the object of preparing and facilitating the restoration of peace on the island, in view of the fact that the restoration of peace is the object of the present proclamation."

"From the day following the receipt in each locality of the present proclamation hostilities are ordered to be suspended in all the territory of the island of Cuba."

"The details for the execution of the above article will be the object of special instructions that will be communicated to the several commanders-in-chief of the army corps for each and prompt compliance, according to the situation and circumstances of the case. (Signed) Blanco."

With Whom Shall He Negotiate?
New York, April 12.—The World publishes the following from Havana: General Blanco has received from Madrid instructions to give out the edict granting an armistice. He has asked with whom he should negotiate. The answer is: "The reply is received from Sagasta he will publish the edict. Public opinion is undecided with regard to the armistice. Nevertheless, patriotism is on the increase. Volunteers while drilling regard the armistice as a step towards the 'Viva España'." "Viva Cuba Española!"

Heavy carts go by, loaded with cannon and ammunition. War preparations go on in spite of the armistice of peace. Nevertheless, Havana promises to keep quiet. The arrival of the Spanish Minister here, by which he delivered to the department. The proclamation is as follows:

Paine's Celery Compound Cures

Nervous, Weak, Sick and Broken-down Men and Women.

Has Saved Thousands from Agony, Suffering and the Grave

The Great Spring Medicine that Cures When All Others Fail.

EMINENT PROFESSIONAL MEN, PEOPLE OF WEALTH, AND THE ORDINARY PEOPLE DECLARE THAT PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND HAS NO EQUAL.

WELLS & RICHARDSON CO.,
DEAR SIR:—I take this opportunity to express my gratitude for the good that I and my friends have received from your valuable discovery, Paine's Celery Compound.

For years I have suffered from constant sick headache, and at times I have been so bad that I have been unable to sleep two hours at a night for weeks.

I have tried many medicines and doctors, but I have been unable to get any relief. I have obtained from Paine's Celery Compound, after using three bottles I can sleep well, my headaches have ceased, and I feel healthier and fresher than I have done for years.

Being one of the early settlers in this place, I am known to all the surrounding country. I feel it a duty to let others know about the medicine that has done so much good. I enclose this testimonial without any solicitation.

Yours very truly,
MRS. E. WILCOX, Cremona, Ont.

WELLS & RICHARDSON CO.,
DEAR SIR:—It is with great pleasure that I testify to the value of your great medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. For nearly two years I suffered from indigestion, kidney and liver troubles. After trying several medicines that did not effect a cure I decided to try your Compound. Before using it I was so low in health that I could not eat nor sleep. I could not lie in bed owing to pain in my back; it was only by resting on my elbows and knees I was able to get any sleep. After using three bottles I have had full sleep and my liver troubles are all gone. I am now in good health and feel like a new man. I am writing you to let you know that I am a true convert to the worth of Paine's Celery Compound.

Yours very truly,
GEORGE J. SHRY, Sheffield, Ont.

WELLS & RICHARDSON CO.,
GENTLEMEN:—No living mortal can imagine the terrible sufferings that I endured for four years, owing to liver trouble, headache and sore back. I may say that in addition to the dangerous ailments just mentioned, I was continually sick at my stomach, with a sour taste and mouth all forced and coated. I tried many potent medicines and was under the treatment of several doctors, but received no benefit. I thank God for having heard of your wonderful Paine's Celery Compound. I procured a supply and used it, and experienced a great change. No other remedy ever gave me such wonderful results in so short a time. I feel like a new man, and can sleep well and enjoy my food. No soul can despair when they can procure Paine's Celery Compound, the surest and best of all medicines.

Yours truly,
MRS. J. CURRIE,

SNAP SHOTS AT TIMELY TOPICS.

The public expenditure still continues to advance, notwithstanding all the pledges of the Laurierites to the contrary. Prior to June, 1896, these men maintained the extent of Conservative disbursements as an outrage. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, speaking in Toronto in 1893, stated that if the reforms got into power he thought they could economize to the extent of one, two, or three millions. Sir Richard Cartwright and all the rest of them have spoken in a similar strain. Now those self-same men are jumping up the record by tens of thousands, and every high-browed Liberal smacks his lips, and says that this is just what they ought to do.

COUNTERFEIT MONEY.

Imitation Five-cent Pieces in Circulation in the City—Local Speculation.

The Kingston News says, citizens and business men should be on the alert for counterfeit Canadian five-cent pieces. There are hundreds of them in circulation and the issue only commenced a couple of days ago. The deception is so complete that unless one is watchful it is hard to discern the coin. The make is perfect, the stamp being a good representation of the genuine. The coin is made, it is thought, of a mixture of German silver and our own silver, consequently the coin is much lighter and can be detected by feeling the surface. The edge is the same as that of the genuine coin.

The most startling part of it all is that the counterfeiters take to be a resident of Kingston. There is no doubt that a large issue has been made. More than one citizen stated to-day that he could place his hand on the counterfeit. If the coin is being manufactured in Kingston it is only a matter of hours until the guilty party is run down.

The police are on track of the counterfeit.

PLAINFIELD.

Mr. A. M. Fleming has gone east to make chase. Mr. Deacon and Miss Hicks, of Belleville, were the guests of Miss Helen Hicks. Mr. Caleb Day, of Rawdon, was in town the guest of Miss James.

Mr. John Anderson, of Prince Edward, is spending a few days with his brother, the Rev. Mr. Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Melburn and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lloyd have gone to Tamworth to attend the funeral of a friend.

Frederic H. Gould, chemist, started on Tuesday for Bangor to take charge of the Bangor chemist factory. He intends driving through.

On Sunday last Capt. Watts, of the 40th Batt. Belleville, and Mr. Robt. J. Howe, of Belleville, were the guests of Fred H. Gould.

Last Wednesday Mr. Anson Jones had a dangerous runaway in coming down what is known as Hill's hill, west of Plainfield, which is a dangerous piece of road. His horse started and ran off the track, which is not properly guarded, which resulted in a broken collar, a crippled horse and cut horses. The county or township should see that it is made safe, as we think some one should be responsible for the damage, as the County Road Superintendent's attention has been called to it already.

For that tired feeling you must enrich your blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the medicine you need.

TUFTVILLE.

Farmers are busy hilling the soil and sowing their grain.

Mr. Ben Clarke, of Carmel, visited his wife, Mrs. Bennett last week.

Miss Ella Clarke is spending a few weeks with friends and relatives in Crookston.

Mr. Geo. Clarke wears a smiling face these days, a baby girl has come to stay.

Mr. S. Tufts has added greatly to the appearance of his residence, by the addition of a new fence and platform.

Miss Carrie July, who is under the care of Dr. McKeljohn, is slowly recovering.

Miss Alice Tufts is spending the Easter holidays with her uncle in St. Mary's.

Mrs. John July returned home on Sunday after spending a week with her mother, Mrs. Barrill, who is ill.

HE DROWNED HIMSELF.

William Williams Tied a Stone About His Neck.

William Williams, a young man resident at Battersea, took a boat on Sunday evening and tying a stone about his neck, jumped overboard after rowing to the middle of lake. His body was recovered yesterday. He is a son of Sam Williams, of Battersea, who was regarded as somewhat eccentric.

He Thought It Very Strange.

In the autumn of 1892 I spent nearly two months at Hamilton Springs, Colorado, in the hope of getting relief from the terrible attacks of bronchitis and asthma, which seemed dragging me into the grave. I had tried pretty nearly everything and grown very sceptical on the subject of medicines. Up to that time it had never been suggested to me that my troubles might be due to indigestion or a disordered stomach. Yet I had undergone treatment at the hands of twenty different physicians, not one of whom had ever treated me for dyspepsia. Do you not think that exceedingly strange? I do not. I met at Denver an English lady, who told me she had passed through a similar experience at home and been at last completely cured by Mother Seal's Syrup. Dyspepsia, she said, was the key to all her troubles. I had finished the fifth one I was a well man. That was three years ago, and I haven't had a suspicion of either of my old ailments since.

The above is an extract from a letter written by an American acquaintance of the writer of these lines, and it is interesting to say that the lady who wrote the letter to Seal's Syrup, it was simply the statement of a fact too interesting and remarkable (in his opinion) to be kept to himself. In case he chances to see this article he will, I am sure, pardon the reference to his case in view of the good it may do. The fact that this intelligent and wealthy gentleman had never heard of the theory on which this medicine works so many marvellous cures, renders it all the more a duty to publish them to the world. Here, briefly told, is another—among the thousands constantly occurring.

"In the spring of 1880," writes Mrs. S. W. Wood, "I began to feel low and weak, having no life or energy. My appetite was poor, and no food that I took agreed with me. After every meal I had great pain at my chest and stomach."

"I was also much swollen around the body; my skin was puffed up as if water had accumulated under it."

[That is precisely what had taken place. Chronic dyspepsia is not infrequently accompanied with a tendency to dropy, on account of the inactivity of the kidneys, though the paralyzing effect of all the principles of the poisonous principles in the blood originally engendered in the stomach.]

"I became very weak," continues the lady "and had difficulty in getting about. My chest ached in pain. I consulted a doctor, who said that my blood was out of order. I took his medicines for over six months, and paid him pounds; but I got no better. This medicine did not seem applicable to my complaint."

"At Christmas, 1890," she concludes, "my mother, who lives near Downham, read in a book about Mother Seal's Syrup, and urged me to try it. I procured a bottle from the chemist at Downham, and after taking it a short time, I began to improve. My appetite returned and my chest ached no more. I continued with it, and gradually all the dropsy and puffiness left me, and I grew strong and well as I had ever been. Since then I have kept in the best of health. I have told many of my friends and customers of what Mother Seal's Syrup did for me. You can use this statement as you like." (Signed Mrs. S. W. Wood, Grocer, &c., Stanhoe, near Lynn, Norfolk, July 10th, 1896.)

Continuously for many years, in many languages, and in countless publications, we have insisted that indigestion or dyspepsia is the true and only disease of which most of the ailments which afflict us are results and symptoms. These cases merely serve to demonstrate the fact once more. We can but express our regret that so many must suffer so long before they learn the truth and resort to the remedy.

The need of a good Spring Medicine is almost universal. It is the only medicine which meets this need. Be sure to get Hood's.

Booked for Situations.

Six more members of Parliament are about to be elected to the House of Commons at the end of the session.

The gentlemen in question are the following:

Mr. Britton, M.P., Senator.

Mr. Gray, M.P., quarantine officer at Grosvenor.

Mr. Choquette, M.P., judge.

Mr. D. C. Fraser, M.P., Chief Justice of British Columbia.

Mr. M. O. Cameron, M.P., Governor of the North-West Territories.

We trust these statesmen will vote straight in the measure.

It was a tremendous shock to the principle of Parliamentary independence if, with the places dangling before them, they were to vote Tory.

CHATTERTON.

Miss Annie Leslie has added a new wheel to our list.

Daily Intelligence.

SNAP SHOTS AT TIMELY TOPICS.—Darnell was once pestered for a baretey by a person upon whom, for good reasons, it was impossible to confer the honour. The applicant became at last so importunate that something had to be done.
So one day Darnell said to him, "Look here! You know I can't give you a baretey; but I'll tell you what—you can tell your friends I offered you a baronetcy and that you refused it. That's far better."—Poor Sir Richard has to defend all the alleged evils at which he has thundered for years; he has to declare right to-day that which for eighteen long years he has declared to be wrong. He wants time to get used to his new condition. Apparently he has given up the hope of ever reducing the taxation, but in eighteen years he hopes the population of Canada will have increased. We hope so too.—Montreal Star.—James Monks, the celebrated animal painter, was making a journey by stage-coach in Maine. An old farmer sat behind him, and the two discussed crops and fertilizers. Monks managing very cleverly to hold up his end. Astonished at his knowledge, for Monks did not look like a tiller of the soil, the farmer finally asked: "What might be your business, stranger?" "Oh,
I paint sheep," was the answer. "But farmer thought for a few moments. "Oh,
yes," he said, at length, "I understand—
you make them marks on them with hot iron!"—Tennison's brook is not in it compared with the facility with which the U. S. pension list threatens to go on for ever. It was thought some years ago that the limit had surely been reached, but a recent report shows that the noble army is still very much on the increase. The total number on the roll on July 30th, 1897 was $76,014, and on Feb. 28th, last these figures had risen to $89,615—a net increase of 13,599
in eight months. Between the two mentioned dates payments of $95,000,000 have been made and it is estimated that $48,000, 000 more will be needed to close the fiscal year, or a total in all of $143,000,000. Taking one consideration with another, the after charges of a new war are calculated to furnish more terrors for our neighbors than the scrap itself.

THEY ARE MARKING TIME.

U. S. Senators Pursuing a Policy of Delay.Vote May Not Be Taken for a Day or So—Meanwhile Spain Is Bracing Herself
for the Onslaught Which Is Expected and Assumes an Attitude of Defiance.A Privatizing Policy Will Be Pursued by the Senate.Washington, March 15.—The report of the Foreign Relations Committee was yesterday laid before the United States Senate. Mr. Turner accused President McKinley of delaying the presentation of his message to Congress to further the policy of the situation. The President was willing to wait, to secure from the Senate the action which American diplomacy had failed to obtain. Mr. Turner declared himself in favor of recognizing the independence of the insurgent Government of Cuba.Mr. Hear followed in a milder tone, defending the attitude of the President and representing the reasonableness of the policy. In conclusion he would be well for the impetuous people of this to remember Abraham Lincoln's counsel in not to early days of the Civil war and not to forget Bull Run.

The Testimony About Cuba.

The testimony taken before the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations in connection with the investigation into the relations between the United States and Cuba, was made public yesterday. It contains a statement made by General Lee,
the chief of the United States military authorities, that the Spaniards had placed two rows of torpedoes at the mouth of the Havana harbor, and subsequently to the disaster. The electrical switchboard operating the torpedoes was placed in Morro Castle. General Lee had had no information of the placing of any torpe-des before the Maine was destroyed, and none in regard to the purchases abroad by the Spanish authorities. He stated it as his belief that the Maine was wrecked by an external explosion, and the Maine must have been fired by some Spanish officer who understood the submarine batteries in Havana harbor. He did not think General Blanco had anything to do with it. General Blanco had expressed genuine sorrow on hearing of the disaster.

War Preparations.

The War and Navy Departments are making every preparation in case of war.
Everything is in readiness for a mobilization of troops. At Chickamauga Park
The Quartermaster-General has been ordered to purchase 1,000 mules for transportation purposes, and the Government having purchased the St. Louis and St.
Paul, are now negotiating for the purchase of the Cumberland, Louisiana, and German Lloyd steamers. Kaiser Friedrich Secretary Long has announced that hereafter no more concerning the movements of the navy will be made public.
The Spanish Minister, Senor Polo, is preparing to leave Washington.

FURTHER DELAY.

Senate Vote on the War May Not Be Taken Till the End of the Week.Washington, D.C., April 15.—The attention of the civilized world is focused upon the Senate of the United States.
Up to this point, the delay in the momentous question of war between this country and Spain.
The most significant event of the day
was an attempt to fix a vote and the failure to do so on account of the desire of many Senators to delay the resolution until the end of the week. It is impossible now to say when a vote will be taken and the utmost the friends of the resolution hope is to secure a vote by the end of the week.

TWELVE MILLION MEN

Available for the Service of the United States in Case of War.Washington, D.C., April 15.—Major-
Gen. Miles, commanding the army, said yesterday that considerable misapprehension existed in regard to the raising of troops in the event of war.
"In the event of the passage of the resolution reported by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee," said Gen. Miles,
"the President would have authority to call into the service of the Government militia to the number of about 12,000,000 men. The third section of the resolution directs and empowers the President to use the entire land and naval forces of the United States and to call into the actual service of the United States the militia of the several States to such extent as may be necessary to carry these resolutions into effect."

WEYLER CALLED IN.

The Former Captain-General of Cuba Summoned to Madrid at the Instance of the Government.Madrid, April 15.—Gen. Weyler, the former Captain-General of Cuba, arrived in Madrid yesterday, apparently called here by the Government. He was met at the railroad station by Gen. Prat, in full uniform, and many friends, military and civilian. The Governor of Madrid prohibited the demonstration which was proposed to make an ardent display of enthusiasm in his honor.

THE QUEEN WILL ABOLISH.

London, April 15.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Post, telegraphing
by way of Biarritz, says that the Queen
Regent has informed the members of her
household that it is her intention to abolish immediately the Cabinet taken
any steps derogatory to Spain's honor
and dignity.

THE POPE IN DISTRESS.

London, April 15.—The Pope is greatly concerned over the impending war and has, so says a correspondent in Rome, prayed that death may intervene before the strife begins, that he may not be a witness of the bloodshed.THE SPANISH FLEET IS STILL AT CAPE VERDE ISLANDS AND HAS BEEN JOINED BY THE CRISTAL COLON AND MARIA TERESA.Very Important.
Washington, D.C., April 15.—The Spanish Legation, up to 4.30 p.m., had received no news of the convoking of the Cortes. The Spanish Minister said:
"That's very important," and his manner indicated that he was hopeful if the right lead to a peaceful solution of the Cuban question.

SEEKING A SAFE PORT.

German Consul at Halifax Looking for a Safe Harbor in Case of War.Halifax, N.S., April 15.—In view of possible contingencies the German consul here has been enquiring as to the availability of a safe harbor in the event of war. He has been enquiring as to the

Quebec's Credit Is Good.

Quebec, April 15.—The tenders for the purchase of the debentures of the city of Quebec, which were opened on Wednesday, were very satisfactory. The tender of the Caisse d'Economie N.D. de Quebec was accepted. The latter tendered at 100 per cent the whole at 6.35 per cent. It is the best done for years past.ishment of police at the station, there were policemen in the station, in the streets through which the General passed and police officers were stationed even within the entrance of the General's residence.From the railroad station the former Captain General was driven rapidly to his home in a carriage, accompanied by Senor Meandrea, a member of the Chamber of Deputies.When questioned on the subject, Gen.
Weyler refused to say he was called to Madrid by the Government, but he added to the correspondent of the Associated Press:"I have indeed offered my services to the Queen. I consider war with America inevitable, or Cuba is lost to Spain. I believe war is preferable to a continuation of the prolonged and painful Chamber of Deputies."

Cabinet Council Held.

A Cabinet council, at which the Queen Regent presided, was held in the afternoon. It was decided to reopen the Spanish Parliament on Wednesday night,
instead of April 20.The Queen Regent at the Cabinet Council sided the national subject decrees to increase the navy. At 8.40 meeting, the Premier, Senor Sagasta, made a statement on the subject of the recent developments of the Cuban situation as affected by events in Washington. He declared the situation was very serious, and while pointing out that "the debates in Congress have no legal value," he said he deemed it advisable to expedite the opening of the Cortes, "in order to allow national opinion and its representatives to declare the will of the people and to enable the Government to act in accordance with the nation."The Spanish Government is contemplating sending a note to the great powers. A Cabinet Minister, who was interviewed on emerging from the Council, said:The true claim is approaching. But Spain is calm, she has done everything to avoid war, and is now confident in the right and in the justice of her cause. She is ready to discuss her honor and her rights on the basis of honesty. When the American Government communicates its decisions, Spain will stand ready to meet all eventualities."

AS TO PRIVATIZING.

Spain Will Make That Species of Warfare
a Special Feature.London, April 15.—There is great interest here in Government and commercial circles over the possibility of privatizing in the event of war between the United States and Spain. Several applications for letters of marque have been made at the Spanish Embassy and at the office of the Spanish Naval Commission, but there were no applications at the United States Embassy. It is generally recognized that Spain intends to make privatizing a conspicuous element of the campaign. It is, in fact, believed, however, that she will risk offending the American powers by stopping their American-bound vessels or by searching trans-Atlantic lines for American goods, for if European ships are molested the powers will probably adopt radical preventive measures.The prevalent opinion that the United States will not embark in privatizing produces an excellent impression.

ON THE DEFENSIVE.

Spain Remains Firm in Her Decision to Maintain National Rights.London, April 15.—The Madrid correspondent of the Standard, telegraphing
Thursday night, says:The despatches announcing the resolutions proposed in the United States Senate and passed by the House of Representatives caused more indignation and pleasure in Madrid than even the Presidential message. Not a single paper admits the supposition that such preten-sions could be tolerated by any Spanish Government desirous of keeping in harmony with the unanimous feeling of the nation.The watchword in official circles is to remain on the defensive, firmly availing
the development of President McKinley's policy and the advance of American diplomacy.The military newspapers talk very wildly of delay, demanding war and considering further concessions impossible."

Queen Signs the Decree.

Madrid, April 15.—(Via Paris).—The Queen Regent signed the decree which dissolved the Spanish Parliament at 6 o'clock last evening.

No Provocation.

London, April 15.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail, telegraphing at 6 o'clock Thursday afternoon, says:"I have just had a conversation with Senor Sagasta, who assured me that the Government was absolutely resolved not to provoke hostilities with America. He added: 'I should be extremely sorry were the country to lose its present self-possession because of an innocent manna-addressed to us by the United States. We are striving with all our might to repress
the national excitement.'"

Very Significant.

London, April 15.—According to a dispatch from Madrid, the abor-pene Council of State has authorized Senor Gullon, the Foreign Minister, to order the Spanish Minister at Washington, Senor Polo y Bernabe, to return to Spain directly President McKinley accepts
"any resolution of Congress which attacks Spain's sovereignty in Cuba."

The Queen Will Abolish.

London, April 15.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Post, telegraphing
by way of Biarritz, says that the Queen
Regent has informed the members of her
household that it is her intention to abolish immediately the Cabinet taken
any steps derogatory to Spain's honor
and dignity.

HAVE CONVINCED THE PUBLIC.

DR. WARD'S BLOOD AND NERVE PILLS

Restore the Snap, Vim, Energy and Strength You Have Lost—
Those Who Know Speak Wisely.

GENTLEMEN:

I think it due to you to let you know what a great boon Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills have been to my daughter Maggie. Prior to taking your great remedy she had been suffering from excessive nervousness for a long time, and her nerves were in a terribly shattered condition. The action of her heart was so weak that it did not have strength to perform its functions, causing violent palpitation and smothering after retiring. Frequently, on account of this suffocating sensation she was afraid to go to bed. Slight exertion exhausted her and caused shortness of breath. Her blood was impoorished and lost vitality, and she had no appetite. She was wasting away and was very hypochondriacal, feeling dejected all the time. Last December she began taking Dr.
Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and she improved at once. Her blood became healthy and strong, and in six weeks her impaired nervous system was restored to its normal healthy condition. Her heart responded to the healthy condition of her blood and nerves and resumed its strong and healthy functions. She now sleeps without any of the dangerous, distressing, smothering and choking spells; her appetite is good, and she has gained in flesh. Healthy color has replaced pallor, and she is now well and strong, thanks to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. I thank you, gentlemen, for the remedy that has restored my daughter to health.

Take the Right Spring Medicine This Spring.

Weigh Yourself Before Taking Them.

GENTLEMEN,—A very bad attack of the Grippe

a year ago last spring left my system in a very weak state and my nervous system completely unstrung. And getting over the dangerous stage of the disease I naturally expected to gain strength, but unfortunately did not do so. On the contrary, my blood became weaker, I daily lost strength and vitality, and my nervous system became so weak that it was a constant source of suffering both day and night. I lost appetite, the sight of food nauseated me, the weak state of my system caused shortness of breath and unnatural action of my heart, such as fluttering and violent palpitation, and my face was like chalk. I was in this condition and constantly getting weaker when I began taking the Dr. Ward Blood and Nerve Pills. I had read the books they distributed and their advertisements in the papers and thought:
"Well, I have taken so much medicine without benefit it is useless to spend any more money." However, I finally made up my mind, it is a forlorn hope;
I can but try. If I am not benefited I will not be hurt; so I bought one box and received great benefit therefrom, so continued their use, and to-day am a well man in consequence. My blood is strong, my face has the ruddy hue of health, my appetite has returned, I sleep well, I have not the slightest indication of nervousness or heart trouble, and from a sick, weak, nervous man, Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills have transformed me in six weeks to full health and strength.

I am yours very truly,

WILLIAM WILLARD,

Night Clerk Grand Central Hotel, Peterboro.

THE QUEEN'S INTEREST.

Her Efforts on Behalf of Peace—Spain Grateful for Her Endeavors.

London, April 16.—Queen Victoria, it is understood, has watched with deep concern the course of the crisis, special service telegrams having apprised her Majesty of every turn of the diplomatic campaign between the arrival of London papers on one day and those of the day following.

Her Majesty has consulted the Marquis of Salisbury as to the possibility of averting war, and it is announced here, "when the secret pages of our Foreign Office are made public, it will be found that her Majesty's personal interest reached both the Queen Regent of Spain and President McKinley."

The Madrid correspondent of The Daily Mail says: The news published in this morning's paper, from its London correspondent, concerning the deep interest taken by Queen Victoria, her earnest desire for peace and her personal endeavors in favor of its preservation has been received with the greatest interest.

A member of the Cabinet said to me to-day: "Spain feels grateful for those endeavors. The British Government can exert a great influence in favor of peace, if it cares to do so, persuaded as it is, that the United States are simply violating in the most brutal manner all international rights in their dealings with us." Public opinion, however, expects nothing from England, suspecting that the British Government has reasons of its own for the moment for siding rather with the United States.

PERSONAL

Mr. J. R. Brower left to-day for England.

Mrs. L. Adams, North Front st., is ill.

Death of Rev. George Bell, LL.D.

The Rev. George Bell, LL.D., the first graduate of Queen's University, Kingston, and from '22 to '27 its Rector, died at the residence of his son in Toronto on Saturday, in his 79th year. He was pastor of Presbyterian churches at Simcoe, Clifton and Walkerton. He took great interest in the religious and secular instruction of the youth of Ontario; was for thirty years a member of different Boards of Education and of the Executive of the Provincial Sunday School Association. He was well known in this city, having during his long residence in Kingston frequently supplied the pulpits of the Presbyterian churches of Belleville.

—Arthur Pettit, an eleven-year-old lad, was killed on the railway tracks at Parkdale Saturday morning.

VARLEY ON REDEMPTION.

The English Evangelist Held Three Services Yesterday.

The Rev. Henry Varley, of London, Eng., arrived in the city on Saturday and yesterday began a series of evangelistic services in the Baptist church. On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Varley were tendered a reception in the lecture room of the church and a large number of the congregation were present.

Rev. Mr. Varley was in Belleville twenty-three years ago and at that time promised to return at some future date. Although long delayed, his visit is none the less welcome.

Yesterday morning Mr. Varley spoke on "Redemption," from Ephesians, 1, "In whom we have redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace."

Redemption, he said meant the opposite of bondage, the equivalent of freedom or out-of-debtodness. It means the possession of God's freedom. The child of God knows the meaning of freedom.

There was not a free man on the face of the earth; they were all sinners, and sin was the opposite of freedom. It was an awful thing to die a sinner, for they went at once into bondage. We were none of us able to redeem ourselves.

Some people thought if they square themselves so that their lives come within the law, they would be saved. But it was all foolishness. They must be redeemed from sin. God hated sin and wished to see man delivered from it. People who sin try to hide it. Some immoral men put on good clothes and ask people to believe them respectable. The law of God was against man by reason of sin; the devil is against man from his proclivities in him. Sin was fashionable and intoxicating, but beware the hideousness underneath. The sinful man had no hope in the world to come, whilst God's servants had a home prepared for them. Speaking of frivolous amusements he said: "Never knew a card player in his life who loved prayer or who was a true lover in the service of God. Redemption did not mean a church membership or a good character, it meant an implicit faith in Christ's promises. Bad things did not get better, nor did a bad man get better unless he turned from his sins. He believed in Christ would never see death. Man was a stranger here and should hold himself in readiness to go home."

In the afternoon Mr. Varley addressed a meeting for men only in the City Hall and in the evening preached to a large congregation. The services will continue all the week, with Bible readings on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons.

SPECIAL LINE OF $8 Suits.

The Oak Hall wish to call your attention to a very special line of suits at $8. Probably the suits are not as special as the price. This line is made of all dark wool-dyed English tweed, all heart and nerve trousers. I do not write this as an advertising medium, but in a grateful acknowledgment of the benefit my daughter has received by taking your pills. If you think my daughter's experience will benefit other dyspeptics you are at liberty to use this statement as you think best.

CASE OF ABDUCTION.

A woman named Sanderson from Madoc, was charged this morning with the abduction of a little girl from the Children's Aid Society. The Magistrate ordered the child returned to the Society and discharged the prisoner. P. J. M. Anderson for Crown; A. A. McDonald for deft.

Queen's Birthday.

There is a strong feeling in the city that something should be done at once towards holding a demonstration here on May 24th.

The Executive Committee recommended against a celebration, or practically did so at their meeting on Friday evening last, but the Council should take the matter up this evening. Our citizens go to other places on the Queen's birthday and spend money there that should be spent here. The City should assist in some sort of demonstration.

To-morrow Night.

"The Geisha," which comes to Belleville Tuesday night, April 19, with an original company first seen in the place at Daly's Theatre, New York, is the most brilliant and captivating opera that has been before our public for years. "The Geisha" is a masterpiece of dramatic art. Both the play and the performance are deserving of the highest praise and there can be no doubt that they will receive the recognition at the hands of the theatre-goers of this city. Those who saw "The Geisha" last week will wish to see it again, and those who have not seen it then will wish to see and hear it now.

DIED.

Sisson—In Belleville, on Sunday, April 17th, 1898, Edmond Jonstone Sisson, in his 81st year.

The funeral will take place from the residence on Fort street, on Tuesday, April 19th, at 2 o'clock.

JEALOUS KINGSTON.

A Deputation Urged to Prevent the Changing of the Camp Ground to Belleville.

The Kingston Times says: "The camp, if removed to Belleville, will show that Harry Corby, a Tory, has most influence with a Reform Government. Mayor Livingston has written and wired B. M. Britton several times on the subject. Last evening the Finance Committee met and while in session a deputation composed of the following waited on them: S. Harkness, J. McFarland, and B. W. Folger. They urged that a deputation be sent to Ottawa to offer the imaginary claims of Belleville. Kingston now has a permanent camp ground, and the reasons for changing are not obvious."

Poor, old jealous Kingston! There are many other things, besides the brigade camp, of which she would like to be deprived. But she has failed so far, and will continue to fail.

AN OPEN LETTER.

BELLEVILLE, April 14th, 1898.

The Dr. Ward Co., Toronto.

GENTLEMEN,—My daughter for three years has been afflicted with chronic stomach trouble and confirmed dyspepsia. Every thing she ate soured on her stomach. Her digestive organs became so weak that they were unable to perform their functions. Her health became greatly impaired, she lost flesh, and could not get restful sleep. Her nervous system was in a frightful condition that any noise or excitement upset her, and caused physical prostration, making her heart throb so violently that she could scarcely breathe. After these frequent recurring nervous attacks she was as weak as a child, and it took hours before she could recover strength enough to do anything. She was in a continual state of misery and suffering. As my daughter says:—"It is only the dyspeptic that can properly appreciate and sympathize with those suffering from this terrible disease and the long train of physical and mental ills accompanying dyspepsia and stomach trouble."

Two months ago a friend advised me to have my daughter try Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. He said that he knew a gentleman that had been afflicted for years with chronic stomach trouble and the Dr. Ward's Pills had cured him. I bought one box and my daughter's health improved so much as the result of taking them that she continued taking them until she had taken three boxes. The result of taking them is that she has been restored to health. She eats without after distress, her digestive organs having become much healthier and strong so that they fulfil their functions. She sleeps well, has gained flesh and strength, and her blood is pure and strong. She has removed all heart and nerve troubles. I do not write this as an advertising medium, but in a grateful acknowledgment of the benefit my daughter has received by taking your pills. If you think my daughter's experience will benefit other dyspeptics you are at liberty to use this statement as you think best.

Signed, W. A. WATTS, Pringle st., Belleville, Ont.

SUNDAY DROWNING.

A Gananque Youth Sinks in the St. Lawrence.

(Special to the INTELLIGENCER.)

GANANQUE, April 18.—John A. Gananque, aged 21 years, along with John Heffernan and T. Boucher, went out sailing yesterday afternoon.

When near Dark Island Cunningham lost his boat and in his efforts to get it up the boat.

Heffernan and Boucher clung to the boat but Cunningham struck out for the shore. He did not reach it, however, sinking within a few yards of it, in about eight feet of water. The others were rescued.

of the invalid. Recalling, he fetched the expiring candle and bent over, lying on its side. The hands were over the face. In the right hand was a long knife.

Evidently he had crawled from his bed and stolen on Keppel with the intention of stabbing him, but just before he could accomplish his purpose the spectre by which he imagined himself haunted had intervened.

That was the end. The candle flickered and died out. Keppel made a spring for the other candle, but remembered that he had no matches. He could not stay with the body in the darkness, so he made his way to the open air.

The morning sky was clear, the eastern horizon a pale yellow. He traced up and down before the house till the sun rose, his mind full of painful thoughts. Horror and misery pursued him everywhere. He had the revolver in his pocket, why not use it on himself and end an agony which, debating the question, but finally escapes lately that he persuaded himself he might have been preserved for a purpose. The uncertainty, that over the blue verge of the distant horizon, was an omen of hope. He turned, and reluctantly re-entered the house.

The sunlight fell upon the corpse as it lay there. Keppel sat resolutely to work. He stretched out the arms and legs, and rolled up the body in a blanket from the bed. He tied it with a string, and placed it in a box. He was now ready for burial.

But how was he to dig a grave? He had no spade. Yet the body could not be left above the ground; it might break out, and the police would be called. If the man had died of yellow fever, he would have been buried in a coffin, and the body would have been buried in a coffin.

Keppel resolved to do this at once. The coat and trousers were lying on a stool at the head of the bed. He took them up, and some papers slipped from the pocket and fell on the floor. He examined them, at first indifferently, then with more interest. There was a passport with several lines upon it, showing a journey through Egypt, India, Australia and Panama. There were several letters, apparently from persons of high authority in Paris, recommending the bearer, Maurice Solange, to the good offices of foreign consuls. It appeared, moreover, that Maurice must have been a personage of some importance, or, at any rate, that he had been intrusted with an important mission. These letters of recommendation could have been destroyed only by the French Emperor's authority.

But the nature of the mission was not clear. It seemed as if this non-specification had been carefully studied. There was a reason, then, for keeping the thing secret—a secret of State.

Was it likely, however, that the poor wretch, whose body lay yonder awaiting burial, would murder a man for a secret of State? Not likely. What good could the secret do the murderer? Was it a thing he could sell? Some secrets were saleable, no doubt. But Maurice, an authorized agent on his way to America, must have been chosen to impart the secret to the Government here; therefore no secret could have been contemplated. Besides, the dead man had said something about a treasure—millions of money. That might have been the mere ravings of insanity; but possibly it was not. A murder committed for millions of money was comprehensible, and this would account for the murderer's strange behaviour. On the other hand, if those millions had been stolen, where were they? Were they anywhere?

Keppel Darke had never heretofore regarded money as a supreme object. He had been a man of high character, and he had been a man of high character. He had been a man of high character, and he had been a man of high character.

He turned over the papers once more. Among them was one small document, which he had not time to remember. It was a note, and it was a note. It was a note, and it was a note.

He was about to pass it over, but an idle impulse caused him to change his mind and open it. The odd aspect of its contents attracted his attention. It looked something like a long sum in algebra. There were columns and columns of figures, and there were words in the French language. For several minutes Keppel sat looking at the paper, and he was not in a mood to let them escape.

Here Keppel gave a short laugh. The millions, probably, had no existence whatever, except in the imagination of the man who had written them.

He turned over the papers once more. Among them was one small document, which he had not time to remember. It was a note, and it was a note. It was a note, and it was a note.

He was about to pass it over, but an idle impulse caused him to change his mind and open it. The odd aspect of its contents attracted his attention. It looked something like a long sum in algebra. There were columns and columns of figures, and there were words in the French language. For several minutes Keppel sat looking at the paper, and he was not in a mood to let them escape.

BLACK & ROBERTSON.

New Things IN Men's Clothing. Spring Clothing FOR Boys . . .

We are now ready to show you all the new things in Men's Clothing.

Suits that will give full satisfaction to the wearer in quality, durability, style and appearance, as well as cost, are here in full force. Careful dressers and careful buyers are asked to view them. You will find that "all wool" means all wool here; that the dye is above suspicion, linings safe and suitable, the interlinings as good as though in sight, the thread, silk or linen, and the cutting and making of superior order. Some business men may think the suits we sell at $5, $6.50, $7.50, $10 and $12 are unworthy their consideration because our prices are so low—but remember, you wear the suit, not the price.

We are splendidly prepared to meet the needs of the big and little boy and satisfy the pocket book of the parent. Tough, hard wearing clothing, honest and dependable clothing is here in full assortment and every variety of style. Just now there are many exclusive styles—in a month or two copies will appear. The principle of giving more for your money than you can obtain elsewhere prevails here. This is the basis upon which we will build a reputation.

BOYS' TWO AND THREE-PIECE SUITS,
Every desirable quality, and prices to please all purses.

Positively One Price
And that the Lowest.

Quick & Robertson,
Ready-to-wear Clothiers.

THE FIRST SHOT OF WAR

Spanish Merchantman Taken by U.S. Ship of War.

The North Atlantic Squadron Sailed This Morning for Cuba—Stirring News Likely to be Received Shortly.

(Special to the Intelligencer.) Key West, April 22.—The first set of war was the capture of the Spanish merchantman Buena Ventura by the U.S. war ship Nashville, 17 miles south-west of Key West, this morning.

The North Atlantic squadron sailed for Cuba this morning.

Norfolk Bicycle Suits. The new thing in bicycle suits is a Norfolk suit. The Oak Hall have them in a good blue serge at $7, and a good Banlockburn tweed at $8. These are suits that we have made especially to order for our best trade and they are going to sell. We have all the sizes in stock at present.

A TALENTED TRIO. The Third of the Y.M.C.A. Entertainments Was Very Successful.

Three very clever young ladies gave the closing entertainment of the Y.M.C.A. series at the Carman last night, and a most pleasing and artistic concert, of perfect satisfaction to a large and representative audience. While the attendance was not so large as at the last entertainment of the series, there was, considering other events, a much more than average attendance.

The performers nothing but words of praise can be spoken. Miss McKay's piano solos were finished and brilliant. Miss Warkock is gifted with a beautiful and sympathetic voice, and her pleasing vocalism gained her several recalls, to one of which she responded by singing "I'll tell you 'Coon' song, which was a very welcome note for her high-class numbers. Miss McCallum has been heard in Belleville before, and so many complimentary things were said of her last time that it is unnecessary to supplement them. Suffice it to say that the same tender pathos, the same sparkling merriment were just as visible and enjoyable last night as at her previous appearance. We venture to predict for Miss McCallum a bright future. Following was the SPORTING NEWS. HORSE AND TRACK. A. L. Lehman, horse trainer, from Bath, N.Y., is at the Ashley track, Foxboro, with the brown mare Hobnob, by Wilton, dam Red Wilkes. This mare is seven years old and has had several foals. She was the foal by Reubenstein. She will be trained for racing in Canada.

MR. GEORGE T. THOMAS has the roan stallion Rideside Eagle Bird, by Eagle Bird, by Jay Bird, by George Wilkes, dam Keweenaw, by New York Dictator. This is a fine, big, handsome horse, full 16 hands and weighing over 1200 lbs. He has no record and will be trained after the stud season. Mr. Thomas is looking for a torpedo to buy. Wilkes formerly owned by J. S. Siebert, of Fort Perry, and will race him at various meetings, commencing at Kingston on May 24th.

SPANISH WARSHIPS. List of Those Vessels Now in the Ports of Spain. Cadix, April 21.—I obtained here to-day a list of all the warships now at Spanish ports. Four cruisers are here. They are the Carlos V., the Princess Asturias, the Don Juan de Austria, and the Reina Victoria. The Carlos V. is a torpedo boat. At Cartagena there are the Alfonso and Ferrol, and the cruisers Caceres, Cienfuegos, and the others. There are no warships at Barcelona.

THE FLEET WHICH LEFT THE CAPE VERDE ISLANDS has returned there to await further orders.

OTTER AND BEAVER SKINS. Chief Game Warden Timley, says the Peterborough Examiner, has been busy this week for many dealers in neighboring towns. He found a number of raw beaver and other skins, and as the close season for these animals extends to 1900, to replenish, the dealers were given their choice of protection or confiscation and settlement. They all settled, and as the settlement was quite heavy, and as the dealers promised not to offend again, the Game Warden made their names on the season's list and did not divulge them.

JAMES REID, M.P.P., Ill. James Reid, M.P.P., Conservative member for Addington, is lying dangerously ill at his home near Centerville, of pneumonia. The doctors have little hope of his recovery.

GOD'S WAY OF SALVATION.

Two More Able Addresses by Rev. Mr. Varley.

Two large audiences were present yesterday at the Baptist church, the evening one quite filling the large auditorium. Mr. Varley preached two more powerful discourses that evidently made a deep impression on the people.

It is a great mistake to suppose that all men are the children of God in the same sense. It is a great mistake to suppose that all men are the children of God in the same sense.

Carpets and Curtains.

We were never better prepared to supply all your wants in Carpets, Curtains, and general House Furnishings. Months of preparation finds our stock complete in all these lines, and you will be surprised and pleased at the choice styles we offer this season at very moderate prices.

Our terms are ONE PRICE TO ALL. The goods are all marked at the closest possible margin of profit, and everyone pays the same price. We don't quote high prices with confidence that prices are right at the start. We cordially invite a comparison of styles and values.

Brussels Carpets. We show this old reliable and ever favored make of Carpets in great variety. Remember we control "Crosley's" make for this district, and they take the lead the world over. This season we are able to offer

3 Frame Brussels at 85c. 4 Frame Brussels at 95c. in styles suitable for Drawing Rooms, Libraries, Halls, Bedrooms and Dining Rooms.

Tapestry Carpets. Good English makes, made by the best and most progressive makers in the world, these look like Brussels. Exceptionally good values in all grades. Prices range from 25c to 85c a yard.

Unions. A large range of Unions, yard wide, from 25c to 65c. Splendid Carpets for very little cost.

Japanese Mattings, Oilcloths and Linoleums.

Lace Curtains. Just received from the best Nottingham makers. Exceptional values in them at 25c, 45c, 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, up to $5.00, the best values we ever were able to offer. Also lovely designs in Swiss and Brussels Net Curtains.

Imperatrix Axminster at 90c. Wool Carpets. We mean the kind we can guarantee as being ALL WOOL. No cotton filling, no cotton warp, but all pure wool. These wear almost indefinitely and are reversible. Prices from 65c to $1.00.

Curtain Materials. All kinds of White and Fancy Muslins, Silk Damasks, Denims, Cretonnes, Velours, Eppes, Tapestries, etc.

Portiers. Latest designs in Silk, Tapestry and Chateau designs for Doors and Arches.

25c Per Set.

D. V. SNICLAR & CO.

P. D. Corsets

The Celebrated P. D. Corsets are absolutely without rivals, and occupy the FIRST POSITION in the world's Corset trade.
P. D. Corsets are tailor cut and hand finished, and only the very best materials are used in manufacturing these nonpareil goods. They have been awarded 10 GOLD MEDALS.
and received again the highest prizes in Brussels, 1897, which shows the merits of these corsets. To be obtained at all leading dry goods stores from $1 to $30 per pair.

WITH THE ADVENT OF SPRING

Building Material Will Be Required . . .

We have a large stock of every line and at lowest possible prices. We still lead in quality of cement.
Just received, a carload of Cannel Coal for open grates.

The Rathbun Company.

If you cannot see and will not think,
you will not know.

Cleavelands

are the easiest running wheels made.

WHY?

Because (instead of having three and four point bearings like other wheels) CLEVELANDS have TWO POINT BEAR-INGS, which cause less friction. This is why the CLEVELAND has won the coasting, hill climbing and Canadian century championships. They hold 16 out of 19 Canadian amateur records.

WINE, ALES, BEER, CIDER.

Mr. Fisher Introduces His Straight Prohibition Plan.

The Question for the Electors Will Simply Be: "Are You in Favor of an Act Prohibiting the Importation, Manufacture, or Sale of All Alcoholic Liquors for Use as Beverages?"—The Procedure—Franchise Bill.

Ottawa, April 22.—The time and attention of the House yesterday were divided between the prohibition plan
and the bill to abolish the Dominion Franchise Act. This was quite in accord with the trend of things, as it is the policy of the Government to harness these measures together.

The object of the Bill,
Mr. Fisher, in introducing the prohibition plan, said that it was one that had been looked forward to with some expectation by the country. The bill was a straight and simple one. It contains in the third clause the question to be submitted to the people of Canada.
That was the point most discussed by those interested in the measure. The question which, he thought, would meet the approval of those interested in its substance. The question was, Are you in favor of the passage of an Act prohibiting the importation, manufacture or sale of spirits, wines, ales, and ciders, all other alcoholic liquors for use as beverages? It would be found, he added, that the question was named on the basis of the several prohibition resolutions introduced at various times in the House of Commons.

The fourth clause provides that the Governor-in-Council shall by proclamation name the day on which the voting shall take place, such proclamation to be published in three successive issues of the Canada Gazette and in the official Gazettes of the provinces.

Who Are Entitled to Vote.
The provision as to who may vote reads: "Every person who is entitled to vote for a member of the House of Commons under the Franchise Act of 1898"
—that is, the Franchise Act now before the House.

Clause six applies the Electoral Franchise Act of the Dominion in every respect to the voting in question. In other words, it provides the machinery and necessary powers to enforce law and order and such penalties as may be incurred
by contravention of those Acts at the voting.

Clause seven provides that the Governor-in-Council may make regulations for effectively carrying out such provisions.

Clause eight relates to the ballot papers. On the right hand of the ballot paper are two columns, with the word "Yes"
at the top of one and "No" at the head of the other. The candidate to be voted for prohibition will place his cross in the blank space under the word "Yes," and
the voter desiring to vote against it
will place his mark under the word
"No."

Clause nine provides for the appointment of representatives of both sides of the question being presented at the polls,
the same as in the case of an ordinary election. The candidates are entitled to be represented at the poll.

Clause 10 provides for the administration of the oath to such representatives,
as under the Election Act.

Clause 11 enacts that these representatives shall show written authority from some authorized body of the electors who may wish to be represented at the poll,
such as the Dominion Alliance or Good Government League, or the Licensed Vintners of the town.

Clause 12 provides that in case no such person can be found, as representative
the returning officer may, as in the case of a Dominion election, call on any elector present to act as "representative at the poll." The candidate to be voted for prohibition will place his cross in the blank space under the word "Yes," and
the voter desiring to vote against it
will place his mark under the word
"No."

Clause 13 provides that the returns shall be made the same as by the deputy returning officers under the Dominion Election Act.

Two copies of the return must be delivered to the representatives of the two sides as in a Dominion election, and a return delivered to the clerk of the candidates.

Clause 17 enacts that the Clerk of the Crown in Council shall publish the results in the Canada Gazette and give the results in each electoral division as they are delivered to the clerk of the candidates.

Clause 18 provides that a summary of the returns, by provinces and for the Dominion, shall be published in the Gazette.

The Act, said Mr. Fisher, in conclusion, is simple, providing merely for the submission of a question to the people of Canada by means of the same machinery employed in a Dominion election.

Mr. Fisher raised the question of the question the expression "manufacture or sale," should read "manufacture and sale." Mr. Fisher replied that if the word
"and" were substituted it would mean that to prevent a sale of liquor it would be necessary to show that all the acts prohibited, and not a single one, had been committed to secure a conviction.

Mr. Fisher said that, without wishing to raise a debate on the first reading, he would merely state that the Government would have added another clause respecting the cost of taking of the question, in the event of a majority being in favor of prohibition, the Government will then consider it their duty to introduce a prohibition law to carry out the wishes of the electors.

Mr. McInerney, another point to raise, "Suppose," he said, "that the Franchise bill should not pass?"
Mr. Fisher, "have decided that the bill shall pass."

Mr. McInerney and Prohibition One Issue.
Franchise Act and Prohibition One Issue.
Mr. McInerney said that the Government brought in had passed Parliament.
But what he wanted to know was, was the fact that this bill provides the vote shall be taken under the "Franchise Act of 1898." Now there is no such Act, and if the Government should have the good sense to withdraw the Franchise
bill, that it should be defeated.

New Things IN Men's Clothing.

We are now ready to show you all the new things in Men's Clothing.

Suits that will give full satisfaction to the wearer in quality,
durability, style and appearance, as well as cost, are here
in full force. Careful dressers
and careful buyers are asked to view them. You will find that "all wool" means all wool
here; that the dye is above
suspicion, linings safe and suitable, the interlinings as
good as though in sight,
the thread, silk or linen, and
the cutting and making of superior order. Some business men may think the suits we

sell at $5, $6.50, $7.50, $10 and $12 are unworthy their consideration because our prices are so low—but remember, you wear the suit, not the price.

'Exponents' of Economy.

Mail and Empire

"I wish to call attention to this fact, that as Liberals we have the right to say that we are the exponents of economy."

"Our opponents do not even pretend to be economists."

Their principle is to get all the money they can from the people, and distribute it among their friends.

This is an extract from the speech of Mr. Clifford Sifton at the National Liberal Convention of 1893.

Now, the expenditure has jumped up from $36,000,000, under the man who did not pretend to be an exponent of economy, to $90,000,000 under the "exponents of economy."

The moral is that action is better than wind.

WEAVING IN JAPAN.

Modern and Ancient Looms Working Side by Side—Excellent Conditions of a Transitory State.

Industrial conditions in Japan are in a transitory state, presenting strange contrasts. In the same localities both the old hand methods of work and the most modern machine methods may be found.

In the same town of each other. For example, the cotton mills of Japan are up to date in every way.

This shows that in the city of Osaka, the leading cotton manufacturing centre, 31,000 men and 27,000 women are employed in the cotton factories, and there are also 200,000 handlooms, giving employment to 100,000 women and 40,000 men.

Within one or two years large importations of Japanese silk rugs of beautiful designs have appeared in Canadian stores and have been sold at amazingly low prices.

This is the more remarkable when we learn from a recent report of a British consul at Osaka to the Government, that carpet weaving is practically all done by hand.

His description of this work is so interesting that we reprint a portion of it:

The carpet makers of Sakai, the chief seat of the industry, situated about six miles from Osaka, took hints from the foreign articles. Greenishblue has improved so much upon their earlier products that already in 1878 cotton and silk carpets began to be exported to Europe and America.

The trade has now grown to large proportions, and it affords an instance of the Japanese being able to beat those from whom they learned.

Carpet-making affords a striking example of the successful competition between cheap labor and machinery. At Sakai there is no large factory, the handlooms are distributed all over the town, and the carpet dealers supply the material and pay the workers by the piece.

In each house there may be three or four looms, ranging from three to twenty-four feet wide. To each loom there are from two to four children, with a grown-up person superintending the work.

With incredible speed the children, some of them as young as seven, pass the yarn in and out of the warp and snip off the right length with a pair of spring clippers.

They are kneeling at their work on a plank laid at the foot of a loom, and they slide backward and forward along their allotted space of the design.

As their little fingers pass the yarn in and out of the cotton of nursery rhyme, which helps them to remember the pattern, and at intervals the woman in charge leads off a new verse, which the children at once take up and simultaneously effect the change suggested by the new music and the words.

They work, or, at least, are at their work for twelve hours a day, and their wages consist of one penny a day.

The price of a rug made of cotton or hemp depends upon the number of threads in the warp and weft, and the number of a yard is the average quality. Woolen carpets are being manufactured, but in price they seem far to exceed similar carpets made in North China without a corresponding improvement in quality.

Australian wool is used, which, of course, makes the difference between the Mongolian wool. Small silk carpets are also being made, but the demand for these is limited; they cost as much as 41 cents a square foot, and for a carpet of any given dimension ninety times the labor is required as in the case of a hempen carpet.

Three hands will make an ordinary hemp or wool rug three by six feet in one day, and it would take the same workers three months to make a silk carpet. The number of looms in the district of Osaka is nearly 2,000, producing 8,000,000 square yards of carpet a year, and in them are employed 5,000 male and 18,000 female workers.

Naturally, "scribbles" plots are all so improbable. "Yes; he belongs to the realistic school, you know,"—Philadelphia North American.

U.S. TO BLOCKADE HAVANA.

North Atlantic Squadron Sails From Key West For Havana.

The Fleet is Later to Be Supported by Troops—Ten Days Will See the American Army of Occupation in Position for Serious Work—Latest News of the Spanish Fleet at Cape de Verde Islands—The Spanish Naval Threat.

Washington, April 22.—The North Atlantic squadron, it was learned shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, had sailed already for Havana from Key West. The decision to send the fleet was reached at the special Cabinet meeting in the afternoon and was guarded as closely as possible.

Hurried orders were despatched to the fleet to establish a blockade of the entrance to the harbor of Havana immediately. The fleet later on will be supported by troops, who will be dispatched to Cuba as soon as the order of the President, it is possible to use them advantageously in the occupation of the island.

Meanwhile, as rapidly as troops can be rushed in Key West and other points on the South Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, they will be hurried forward. It is believed that it will take ten days to concentrate at the coast an army of sufficient size with the necessary supplies to make an effective campaign.

It is the purpose to gather these troops and then make a dash for the decisive moment. Immediately upon the passage of the army forward, by Congress, the fleet, by proclamation, will call for 100,000 men. Of this force it is intended to use 50,000 men in Cuban operations, in conjunction with the regular army now already assembled or assembling at points of concentration. The remaining 50,000 men will be used for the decisive moment.

Great difficulty was experienced in learning the details of the operations, and Secretary Long refused, when seen, even to admit that orders had been sent to the fleet, but subsequent confirmation was obtained of a rumor that orders had been sent, coupled with the surprising information that the fleet had actually sailed. With respect to the flying squadron at Hampton Roads, no information is as yet obtainable.

The St. Vincent Fleet.

News came to the department today that tended to confirm the newspaper reports that the formidable Spanish naval forces at St. Vincent, Cape de Verde Islands, had sailed last night for an unknown destination. Naval experts say that leaving out of consideration the question of relative strength of personnel, the Spanish force is at least equal to the Atlantic and attack Commodore Schley on his own base, but it would seem to be equally impracticable for the Spanish force to take the flying squadron across to attack the Spanish unless he is reinforced.

The Spanish Threat.

The threat of the Spanish newspapers to give America a surprise in the shape of a naval visitation does not cause any uneasiness at the Navy Department, and although nothing positive is known as to the destination of the Spanish squadron, it is surmised that it has sailed on its return to Spain, 1,000 miles distant from Cape Verde, thus indicating a purpose to await an engagement in their own waters.

TEA AND COFFEE.

THE Spanish newspapers to give America a surprise in the shape of a naval visitation does not cause any uneasiness at the Navy Department, and although nothing positive is known as to the destination of the Spanish squadron, it is surmised that it has sailed on its return to Spain, 1,000 miles distant from Cape Verde, thus indicating a purpose to await an engagement in their own waters.

Washington, April 22.—The Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee expect to complete the war revenue measure and have it ready for submission to the full committee to-day or Saturday at the latest. One of the biggest contests in progress in the committee is over the question of taxing tea and coffee.

The proposition to place 10 cents tax on tea and 5 cents on coffee has met with considerable opposition, and various suggestions have been made as to subjects for taxation in lieu of tea and coffee. Among them is a proposition to place a tax on the importation of petroleum, but no one seems probable this will be abandoned. There is also a proposition to tax mineral waters, wines, etc., but a proposition which now seems to have favor is to tax railroad tickets and sleeping car tickets 10 cents for each trip of over 100 miles. It is estimated between $200,000,000 and $25,000,000 could be raised from this source.

The Temps Is Anxious.

Paris, April 22.—The Temps yesterday afternoon was much exercised over the Anglo-American relations and asks "Great Britain" is going to separate from the rest of Europe in order to contract an alliance with the United States.

Provisions for the Starving.

New York, April 22.—Chairman Stephen D. Barlow of the Central Cuban Relief Committee said today: "We have chartered the Mallory Line steamship State of Texas, and she will leave here on Saturday next, carrying 1,000 provisions for the starving."

No Formal Declaration, But Hostilities Have Actually Commenced.

Washington, April 22.—War between the United States and Spain is a fact, though not yet formally declared by Congress. The stirring events of Wednesday were succeeded yesterday with rapidity by acts of equal importance, culminating in the afternoon in orders for the departure of the North Atlantic squadron from Key West.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills

Restore the Snap, Vlm, Energy and Strength You Have Lost.

Those Who Know Speak Wisely.

GENTLEMEN:—

I think it due to you to let you know what a great boon Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills have been to my daughter Maggie. Prior to taking your great remedy she had been suffering from excessive nervousness for a long time, and her nerves were in a terribly shattered condition. The action of her heart was so weak that it did not have strength to perform its functions, causing violent palpitation and smothering after retiring. Frequently, on account of this suffocating sensation, she was afraid to go to bed.

Slight exertion exhausted her and caused shortness of breath. Her blood was impoverished and lost vitality and she had no appetite. She was wasting away and was very hypochondriacal, feeling dejected all the time. Last December she began taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and she improved at once. Her blood became healthy and strong, and in six weeks her impaired nervous system was restored to its normal healthy condition. Her heart is now strong, and her healthy condition of her blood and nerves and resumed its strong and healthy functions. She now sleeps without any of the dangerous, distressing smothering and choking spells, her appetite is good, and she has gained in flesh. Healthy color has replaced pallor, and she is now well and strong, thanks to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. I thank you, gentlemen, for the remedy that has restored my daughter to health.

THE ALIEN LAW REFORM.

The Action of J. D. King & Co. Discussed in the House.

Labor Law Not Strictly Enforced—Franchise Bill Discussed—Proposed to Insert a Clause Granting Franchise to Government Employees—Solicitor-General to Make an Amendment—Topics of Interest Before the House.

Ottawa, April 23.—Two topics of public interest were discussed in the House yesterday—the non-enforcement of the alien law and the qualifications of voters, as laid down in the bill now before Parliament. In connection with the latter discussion, it is a curious comment upon the manner in which some legislators discharge their duty that Mr. Boyd, who moved to retain the franchise to the Indians and Mr. Lister, who supported the amendment, were not present when the vote was taken. It shows what little sincerity those gentlemen possess.

Mr. Clarke started it. The alien law discussion was raised by Mr. Clarke of West Toronto, who called attention to the strike of the employees of J. D. King & Co. He said it was stated that the firm was endeavoring to defeat the strikers by sending an agent to the United States for the purpose of inducing aliens to go to work to take the places of strikers. In view of the legislation passed last session, he thought the attention of the Government should be drawn to the action of Messrs. King & Co. The dispute between that firm and the strikers was a domestic one, not an international one, and could be best settled without the aid or intervention of foreigners. His view was that the importation of aliens would cause much more friction than would otherwise result, and would do an amiable settlement of the dispute. Under the provisions of the Act of last session Messrs. King & Co. were using illegally by sending to the United States for workmen. Knowing the excellent character of many of the employees of the firm as well as the high standing of the employees, he would be sorry to see anything done that would intensify the feeling now prevailing. If the alien law was to be made and effective, its operation should be confined to an occasion of this kind. He asked the intervention of the Minister of Justice to see that the employees of King & Co. got justice and fair play.

Hacking From Mr. Wallace. Mr. Wallace said he would like to know what steps had been taken to bring the alien law into force. He regarded the action of King & Co. as an outrageous one. While the United States raised a high barrier against Canadians the Act should be strictly enforced against them.

Mr. Mulock's Contentions. Mr. Mulock contended that the Act was in force in Toronto today. It was quite sufficient to call the attention of the Minister of Justice to any supposed violation of its provisions, and action would be taken by the department. This had already been done in Windsor.

Mr. McLaren (Conservative, South Perth) said there was a good deal of complaint in Stratford against Americans being brought in to take the places of Canadian railway men. He would like to see protection given to the Canadians working for the railway companies there. As yet, the Government had not taken any step to do this.

Mr. Cowan said the Act had been enforced in the city of Windsor, and as a result since not a single Canadian had been turned back from Detroit.

Mr. Clancy said it was well known that Sir Louis Davies was hostile to this bill at the outset, and therefore, a provision was inserted in it to take the places of Canadian railway men. He would like to see protection given to the Canadians working for the railway companies there. As yet, the Government had not taken any step to do this.

Mr. McGee said that the Act had given general satisfaction in Essex, while Messrs. McLeod and Taylor warmly condemned the Government for not enforcing the law.

The subject then dropped.

The Franchise Bill. The House then went into committee on the Franchise Bill.

Mr. Russell (Liberal, Halifax) said it was quite possible under the terms of the bill that the measure might throw doubt on the qualifications of certain persons under the provincial laws. He objected to Opposition members taking up the time of the House with long constitutional discussions. He moved to add the following sub-amendment to clause 5:

"Provided that any person whose name appears on a voters' list, and who is qualified to vote in a Provincial election, shall be entitled to vote in a Dominion election, notwithstanding that he is not qualified to vote at any election of a House of Commons, notwithstanding that he is not qualified to vote at any Provincial election."

Mr. McInerney asked when Mr. Russell planned for the constitutional discussions. His own leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, was the first to raise the question.

Mr. Russell—No. Several conservative members—It was your own leader.

Mr. Monk offered a more comprehensive amendment.

New Things IN Men's Clothing.

We are now ready to show you all the new things in Men's Clothing.

Suits that will give full satisfaction to the wearer in quality, durability, style and appearance, as well as cost, are here in full force. Careful dressers and careful buyers are asked to view them. You will find that "all wool" means all wool here; that the dye is above suspicion, linings safe and suitable, the interlinings as good as though in sight, the thread, silk or linen, and the cutting and making of superior order. Some business men may think the suits we sell at $5, $6.50, $7.50, $10 and $12 are unworthy their consideration because our prices are so low—but remember, you wear the suit, not the price.

Boys' Two and Three-piece Suits. We are splendidly prepared to meet the needs of the big and little boy and satisfy the pocket book of the parent. Tough, hard wearing clothing, honest and dependable clothing is here in full assortment and every variety of style. Just now there are many exclusive styles—in a month or two copies will appear. The principle of giving more for your money than you can obtain elsewhere prevails here. This is the basis upon which we will build a reputation.

Every desirable quality, and prices to please all purses.

Positively One Price
And that the Lowest.

Another Amendment Coming. The Solicitor-General said that Mr. Russell's amendment did not go far enough, and Mr. Monk did not provide the necessary machinery. He would therefore move an amendment himself, which would provide for Dominion officials being put on the lists in provinces in which they are not entitled to vote locally, and also to extend the franchise to them in provinces where they are not entitled to vote at all. As he would not be ready to submit his amendment till Monday the House was allowed to stand over in the meantime.

An amendment of two being rejected, it was finally agreed that the Government should add another sub-section to the bill, giving effect to the objections indicated.

On the next sub-section dealing with the voters' lists to be used, the Solicitor-General admitted it was evident there was a danger of the Local Legislatures interfering to make the franchise on lists such as the Parliament of Canada might not be willing to accept. Therefore, he proposed to take the lists in force 60 days before the proclamation for a general election.

The Solicitor's amendment was eventually carried.

Luck of a Canadian Broker. Montreal, April 23.—The Forges have made a pile of money in New York and are back by the way yesterday, and it is said their clean up will net over $300,000. These people are the wonder of the street.

Mr. W. J. Harkon is appointed assistant to the mechanical superintendent of the C.P.R.

Crushed by the Boat. Port Dalhousie, April 23.—Yesterday afternoon the schooner Ceylon was coming in the harbor, in trying to make land a line of one of the sails fell between the mast and the boom, causing the boat to crash him. He belongs to Garden Island. His name is J. Compe. He is hurt internally, but what extent is not known yet. Doctor Ludwig is in attendance.

Toronto Live Stock. Export cattle sold all the way from $2.75 to $4.40, only one head bringing the latter price. Consistent prices for all grades and the best on the market. The bulk of exports sold at $1 to $1.25 per cwt. Light export hogs, sold at $2.25 to $3.50 per cwt. Heavy hogs, sold at $2.25 to $3.50 per cwt. In butcher's cattle, there was a little more in prices, which were weaker if anything.

Loads of good butchers' stuff sold at $3.00 to $3.75, medium $3.45 to $3.50, common $2.25 to $3.00 and inferior $2.00 to $2.50 per cwt. About 12 milk cows sold at $25 to $45 each, only one selling at the latter figure. Average price for a cow, we believe, $32.50. Horses and feeders continue in good demand; prices unchanged.

East Buffalo, April 22.—Receipts were all consigned through. Veals in full supply and prices were dull. Veals, $3 to $3.25; calves, $4 to $4.75.

Hog prices were moderate, and with stronger advice from the west, prices here in sympathy rose. Consistent prices for all grades and a fairly active trade prevailed. Good light hogs, $2.15 to $2.40; medium $2.15 to $2.40; heavy $2.15 to $2.40; and inferior $2.15 to $2.40. About 12 milk cows sold at $25 to $45 each, only one selling at the latter figure. Average price for a cow, we believe, $32.50. Horses and feeders continue in good demand; prices unchanged.

On the Atlantic U. S. Sea-Borne Trade In Their Own Ships Is Nearly 50 Per Cent. Greater Than Spain's—Where U. S. Goods Go.

(London Telegraph.)

The present condition of affairs between Spain and the United States gives interest to a comparison of the stage held by each country, and also of other nations, in their sea-borne commerce. There are two ways in which this may be affected by an outbreak of hostilities, the first being the direct effect by the blockade of one of the ports of the other, and the second the restriction of the warlike operations to the carrying of the trade under the enemy's flag. The former of these would affect, of course, all other maritime Powers, and would not be confined to Spain, as notified, and any ship, no matter what its nationality, would be liable to seizure and detention on either side, and the latter the embargo thus imposed. However there is a saving clause embodied in the phrase "sea-to-sea," "effective blockade," and a mere notification is not sufficient, the presence of sufficient force being requisite to make a notice of blockade valid. With this it is not likely that any neutral Power would tamely submit to the destruction of its traffic, or that either of the countries engaged in hostilities would willingly lay up against itself the enemy's flag. The Spanish fleet would be able to enforce such a blockade of the Atlantic seaboard as the United States fleet would find it difficult to maintain in a similar way on the Spanish coast, is equally improbable. Such a policy presupposes a decisive victory at sea on the part of the United States, and the latter is not the other line of action is one which it would be easy for either to start upon, seeing that both have a fair supply of swift cruisers, the American, Columbia and Minnesota having, indeed, been built for the special purpose of destroying commerce.

In the event of this more limited form of operations, the United States has a much larger body of trade open to attack than its opponent, and the latter is consequently more exposed to the possibility of a disproportionate loss. It might be inferred from its vast dealings with the rest of the world. Its shipping interest never recovered from the blow it received at the time of the Civil War, and whereas in 1859 the Spaniards shipped over 66 per cent. of the value they sent or brought across the sea in merchant ships, the United States shipped only 11 per cent.; so that out of about $270,000,000 imports and exports conveyed across the Atlantic, the flag carried but little over $20,000,000. In 1897 Spain's sea-borne trade amounted in round figures to $49,000,000, and of that she carried about $21,000,000 in her own ships; hence, so far as the Atlantic is concerned, the United States' present floating possessions are nearly 50 per cent. greater than those of her opponent. The proportion is increased when the inland trade of Spain is taken into account, which brings the gross total to about $360,000,000, and the United States' to about $200,000,000. The maritime strength of the States, however, is overwhelming in the Pacific, and the real struggle would be fought in the Pacific.

From the point of view of shipping as distinguished from the goods carried, returns for 1897 show that the United States, in the Pacific, carried 1,197,379 tons of goods, valued at $1,197,379,000, while Spain, in the Atlantic, carried 1,197,379 tons of goods, valued at $1,197,379,000. The United States' shipping, however, is not confined to the Pacific, and the real struggle would be fought in the Pacific.

The Spanish Government, finally believing down to the very last moment that peace would be preserved through the intervention of the United States, neglected to lay in sufficient provisions of coal, despite the representations made to them by the British and other naval officers. Besides this, it is believed they never once inquired of the British or other naval officers whether coal would be regarded as contraband of war. The result is said to be a state of things which may be fraught with unpleasant surprises and bring hostilities to a premature end.

Spain's Policy Re-neutral.

Fleet 4001 Remains at Cape de Verde.—The Customs Commanders Will Not Venture Away From Their Base of Supplies.—British Observed Strict Neutrality.—Deceit Issued Calling Out 30,000 Men.—Gen. Woodford Had a Warm Time on His Trip Out of Spain.

Madrid, April 22.—An immense crowd witnessed the military parade in front of the Palace yesterday. The immense enthusiasm was displayed when the little King appeared on balcony. A big demonstration has been arranged to take place before the military out of sight of the Queen Regent, during the day, with the participation of some 50,000 men, and the demonstration has been arranged to take place before the military out of sight of the Queen Regent, during the day, with the participation of some 50,000 men, and the demonstration has been arranged to take place before the military out of sight of the Queen Regent, during the day, with the participation of some 50,000 men.

Madrid, April 22.—The British Charge d'Affaires, acting in the absence on leave of the Ambassador, called on Foreign Minister Guillon and notified him that Great Britain considered coal contraband of war, and will not allow either Spain or the United States to get coal in any British port.

Only 500 Tons in Havana.

Washington, D. C., April 22.—An Englishman who was on the way to Havana says he took special pains to ascertain how much available coal there was in that city, and the amount is not over 500 tons. He thinks that the United States Government has provided an abundant supply, but it was stolen before the arrival of Captain-General Blanco.

Spain Has No Reserve Coal.

London, April 22.—A despatch to the Daily Telegraph from Barcelona via Paris, says: "Grave apprehensions are entertained in the highest Government circles that the issue of war may be decided not by valor and enthusiasm and dogged perseverance, qualities of which the Spaniards possess an abundance, but by reserves of coal and vitals, of which they have made but a scanty provision. Coal, that is, the means of resistance in coal in particular, they are incomparably worse off than they have hitherto imagined."

An International Favorite.

"Aperta" is the title of a little work published in London containing reports of the opinions of such prominent men as Prof. Pouchet of Paris, Prof. Liebermann and Gerhard of Berlin, Prof. Althaus and Tichon of Great Britain, Prof. Bogoslovsky of Moscow, and others, who, after clinical observation and analyses and other investigations speak of the "Aperta" as the highest form of human intelligence.

Its constancy of composition and its freedom from all impurities, due to its being bottled under eminent scientific supervision; its value in the treatment of obesity and in the systematic treatment of constipation, are specially dealt upon. The brochure can be had of the United Agency Co., 503 Fifth Avenue, New York.

ODDFELLOWS AT CHURCH.

A Practical Sermon by Rev. Bro. Newton Hill.

Local Oddfellows celebrated the 79th anniversary of their order yesterday by attending divine service at the Tabernacle. Belleville and Mirapah Lodges, together with the Canton, and headed by their band marched to the church, where Rev. Bro. Newton Hill preached a sound, practical sermon on the duties they owed to the order and to the world in general.

His text was from Galatians, 6-2, "Bear Ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ."

He welcomed his brethren to the Tabernacle. He had preached, he said, under more favorable circumstances, for he was just in receipt of a telegram asking him to preach the funeral service of a dear friend.

Taking up his discourse he said he did not know of any other passage of scripture that brought out the features of their order better or more fully than this. This was the 79th anniversary of the order and they were gathered to thank God for the blessings and mercies of the past and to ask for blessings for the coming year. As the Independent Order of Oddfellows they had reason to thank God, not only for the increase in their numbers, but also for the good they had been enabled to do. Over 70,000 members had been initiated into this mystic order during the year. They were aiming to do good.

He quoted from the constitution to show the objects of the Order. He believed the Order's wonderful success was due to its adaptation to man. It taught the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. He was ashamed of the brother who did not live up to the constitution of the Order. There were Methodists who were no credit to the church, but the church could not be judged by its members. He did not live up to the constitution of the Order, but he did not believe in a man giving all his attention to getting to heaven and leaving his wife and children to care for themselves. God is a poor man's God. Parents were bound to provide for their children and if they did not they were held responsible by God. Some men would say they were not able to join this society or take out an insurance policy on their lives, while at the same time they were spending over their heads on smoking or more than would pay their dues or premiums. No matter where an Oddfellow went he was under the care of the order and if sickness came he would be bound to attend him and bury him if he died. The order had $6,000,000 and every day during last year they had distributed $6,400 daily to relieve distress. The brethren were not left to the cold charity of the public. He urged the members to look to the Great Friend who stands closer than a brother. Let us not neglect our soul's salvation. He hoped each would live up to their constitution and might God bless them.

The process was re-formed and marched by way of Church, Foundry and Front streets to their respective halls. The Canton had a large turnout and made a splendid show in the streets. There were about two hundred brethren in line.

ELECTORAL CORRUPTION.

Charges Laid Against Prominent Liberals in North Hastings.

Some days ago it was stated in the Independent that the Conservative party in North Hastings had determined to prosecute certain prominent Liberals in North Hastings on the charge of corrupt practices in the late election contest in that constituency. In pursuance of this determination, Mr. W. J. Moore, barrister, Macclesfield, was in town today for the purpose of taking proceedings against the following named parties:

B. O. Lott, the candidate; Dr. Faulkner, Stirling, Licentiate Inspector; James A. Moore, of the Returning Officer; Samuel Hargrett, Maynooth; P. C. Clark, St. Olaf; George David and P. McKernan, Bancroft, D. Potter, Millbridge; and Peter Murphy.

Chairman Dingley, of the Ways and Means Committee, introduced a war revenue measure in the House. The bill is expected to add $100,000,000 a year to the Government's income. It also provides for the issue of $500,000,000 in bonds and $100,000,000 in Treasury certificates of indebtedness.

Major-General John R. Brooke has been assigned to the command of an army with headquarters temporarily at Chickamauga park.

American liners alleging the capture of the Spanish liner Verde passed the Cape Verde Islands yesterday morning. It is said on one hand that the Spanish fleet is at Cape Verde Islands awaiting reinforcements, now on the way to Spain, and that it may appear suddenly in the rear of Admiral Sampson's squadron. On the other hand there is a suspicion that a squadron is making for the north with a view to giving New York a taste of shot and shell, such as is threatened in the case of Havana.

The U. S. cruiser Topeka is safe. The steamer which collided with the Albatross has been identified.

Capt. Charles D. Signe, the former commander of the destroyed battleship Maine, has been challenged by Lieut. B. D. Carranza, naval attaché in Washington of the Spanish Legation to fight a duel.

About $8 Suits.

The Oak Hall has three lines of $8 suits, a fine check, a plain grey and a Irish serge, that stand to-day ahead of any suits offered elsewhere in Belleville at $8. This is a brave statement, but we are prepared to back it up. We invite you to look and make a comparison. We don't ask you to go to it like a blind.

MARRIED IN TORONTO.

Miss Eva Dickens and Mr. Geo. Meyers United for Life.

A quiet wedding took place at 9 o'clock Saturday evening in Toronto, where Miss Eva Dickens, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. F. Dickens, was married to Mr. Geo. Meyers, formerly of this office, now employed in the Queen City. Mr. Meyers left Belleville on the 3:10 train Saturday afternoon and was met in Toronto on the arrival of the train there by her intended.

Both the young people are well known and popular in Belleville, and while their marriage was somewhat unexpected to their friends, still the congratulations and good wishes will be none the less spontaneous and hearty. They will take up their residence in Toronto.

Reformed Episcopal Church.

Rev. J. Simpson Trotter's subject yesterday morning was God's care of his servants in trial from the words, "The Lord hid them." In the evening his text was, "The many places thereof and the gates thereof shall not be builded; they shall be given to places." His evening points were: many who hear the gospel are not benefited by it; to make light of eternal realities is a direct reflection on the loving kindness of God, and the impending doom of persistent rejectors of the clemency of God. It was a powerful appeal to the unsaved.

BY JULIAN HAWTHORNE.
Copyrighted by the American Press Association.

Wherever it was it was worth searching for, and Keppel resolved to examine every square foot of ground within a mile, if necessary, before giving it up. This might take time—weeks, or even months. Meanwhile, he would have to live in the house, and the first thing to be done was to get the bread man and all his belongings out of it.

But now the question occurred, how should he make a grave? Though he was a farmer, there were no farming implements on it. The soil was sandy, to be sure, but it would take days to make a hole deep enough to bury any sticks and stones to dig with; and the sandy soil would have been intolerable long before that. As Keppel thought this, his eyes fell upon the swamp, and he walked down to the pond that was a few feet out from the shore back, stagnant water lay in the morning sunlight. Bushes grew out of it here and there, and a big stone and flung it into the thickness. As it sank quantities of the bubbles rose to the surface. It was an ugly place, and in that foul pool might be swallowed up forever.

"Why not?" said Keppel to himself. He saw something sticking out of that, bushes and mud in the swamp at a little distance. He approached it and found an old boat, waterlogged and leaky, but still able to float for awhile. His mind was now made up.

He went back to the house and entered the room where the body lay wrapped up in its blanket. The man grasped the ropes that bound it, he dragged it across the floor and out of the door. Reeling, he carried it to the place where he had thrown the stone, he lifted it and got it on board. Unbarring himself, he showed out on the surface of the swamp. The slimy water stole in through the gaping seams of the blankets. It leaked as fast as possible he propelled the boat to a place where the water seemed deep.

He had previously picked up a heavy stone in the boat. This he now fastened to the body with the rope, finally all being ready, he exerted all his strength and heaved the sinister thing into the water. It sank at once, and the black mine closed over it. Keppel looked down on the place where it had disappeared.

"Rest in peace!" he muttered. He paddled himself ashore, and returned to the house with a feeling of relief.

It remained to burn the clothing and bedding. He first placed a quantity of dry wood on the fire, and then he laid the clothing upon and set fire to it. Next he removed the bedding from the bedstead. The latter was nothing but a rough framework of planks, and he took it from the barn and nailed together in a careless fashion.

In taking off the mattress he saw in the cavity beneath it a small oblong chest. It looked shabby and battered, but it seemed to be made of iron, with a loop attached to the front with a key. He unlocked it and took out the contents. It was a box of matches, and he had kept his wardrobe. He kept on the fire with the rest.

He laid hold of the trap, to lift the box out. It was unexpectedly heavy. He took both hands to it and jerked it up. It came down on the floor with a bang that jarred the house. "What came in it?" said Keppel, pausing to take breath. When a small object came to him that turned him pale and trembling. What if the chest should be taken to the grave? He had taken it to the grave, but he had not at first noticed it. He had not at first noticed it. He had not at first noticed it. He had not at first noticed it.

We are now ready to show you all the new things in Men's Clothing.

Suits that will give full satisfaction to the wearer in quality, durability, style and appearance, as well as cost, are here in full force. Careful dressers and careful buyers are asked to view them. You will find that "all wool" means all wool here; that the dye is above suspicion, linings safe and suitable, the interlinings as good as though in sight, the thread, silk or linen, and the cutting and making of superior order. Some business men may think the suits we sell at $5, $6.50, $7.50, $10 and $12 are unworthy their consideration because our prices are so low—but remember, you wear the suit, not the price.

TESLIN LAKE RAILWAY.

The B. C. Government Supporters Carry a Resolution to Subsidize It by $1,000,000.

Vancouver, B.C., April 25.—The Provincial Government supporters gathered together and passed a resolution favoring subsidizing by the province, to the extent of $1,000,000, McKenzie & Mann, to aid them in building railway from British Columbia port to Teslin Lake. A number of people who objected to the provincial aid, and made things lively for a time, and they submitted an amendment that the Dominion or Provincial Government should not subsidize any individual. The amendment was, however, defeated by 20 votes and the resolution carried.

The original resolution was amended by a string being put on its tail, directed against United States mines and Chinese. It was resolved that no free miners' licenses be issued to aliens in that part of the province through which the railway will pass; also that no Chinese be employed in the work of construction. A telegram was read from Sir Wilfrid Laurier, saying that the Dominion Government does not intend to do anything further with the railway.

PART THREE—LIFE.
CHAPTER IX.
TOM BANNICK'S VISITOR.

Near the upper end of Nassau street, in New York, stands a tall building containing business offices. In the year 1872 this building was regarded as one of the finest in New York and was occupied chiefly by a good class of lawyers. The apartment on the north-east corner of the top floor upon the ground glass panel of its door the legend, "Thomas E. Bannick, Law Office." Mr. Bannick had lived in the building since its erection, but only lately in his present quarters. He was a man of middle age, with a large square of the face, and a high forehead, but for one reason or another he had gradually risen from one floor to another, until at length he had found himself architecturally speaking above all his fellow tenants. To go higher was impossible. He was not yet light enough to live in the sky, but air, although if things went on as they had been going it looked as if he would have to live on.

Because a man is poor in New York it does not mean that he is a scoundrel, or even that he is incompetent. Tom Bannick, at all events, was neither. He was born of a good North of Ireland family and had been there thirty odd years. After a supplementary career in law he came to America with a letter of introduction to a friend, who drew him to the Western States, where he spent a dozen years he was very busy and interesting time of it. He twice lost all his money, and once was worth a couple of hundred thousand dollars. These vicissitudes, it must be confessed, were not incident in the regular practice of his profession—he speculated in land and mining property, and the inevitable ups and downs followed. After his second severe loss he tossed up a cent by way of determining whether he should follow the law or go to California and prospect for gold. The cent came up heads, and he chose law accordingly. The many friends he had made and his knowledge of mining and the value of business, and it turned out that he was a success.

THE SLATER SHOE.

The difference between buying a pair of "Slater Shoes" and a pair of common shoes is just the difference represented in a sealed letter and an opened one with a responsible signature.

The sealed letter may contain a large cheque, or a ball's notice. The opened letter—well you know just what it is.

The common shoes may be good ones under the finish, but you don't know!

"Slater Shoes" bear a pedigree tag which tells exactly the leather they're of, its wear, peculiarities or faults. Goodyear Welted. $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00 per pair.

Why These Tears.

(Toronto Telegram.)

Why all these tears in the columns of the paper of last Liberal journal?

Wherefore the outcry which goes up against the Senate as the unpatriotic assassin of Balfour's scheme for building a railway from Telegraph Creek to Teelin Lake?

According to the Vancouver World the emissaries of McKenna and Mann are building the railway, and the rail and supplies are being shipped in, the men are on the way. The alleged road and the wagon road are being built, and the country by the genius of Canada's immortal statesman are in progress of construction.

The action of the Senate has not pleased the sturdy hands of William McKenna and Daniel Mann's enterprise. These patriots have given the country the finger and the thumb, and the world has been able to learn the road is progressing just as it would have progressed if the Senate had approved of the Yukon road.

The facts disclosed by the Vancouver World show that the Yukon railway project has not been approved by the Senate. All the Senate did was to stop the whole scheme of the public domain, and the Senate's action stands as the last word spoken on the Yukon railway question at Ottawa this year. The C. P. R. and McKenna & Mann will build the rail, and the Senate will not let them.

What is the sense of the U.S. President calling for 100,000 volunteer troops? When that glorious country has several millions of Capitanis, Generals, and others of a like kind lying about loose, why not press them into service?

SNAP SHOTS AT TIMELY TOPICS.

—We have not read in the headlines of the Globe yet "States Shall Spank Spain."

—The warring words of the Commons are only secondary things compared to those of Spain and the United States.

—What has become of the Canadian Klondike? The Canadian press, since war has commenced, has apparently forgotten that golden bullets could be gathered in large quantities in our frozen north.

—If Mr. DeBarry, the United States Customs tender to Canadian workmen and workwomen, would only look up the Customs he would confer a favor on many of his race on this and on the other side of the international boundary line.

—What is the sense of the U.S. President calling for 100,000 volunteer troops? When that glorious country has several millions of Capitanis, Generals, and others of a like kind lying about loose, why not press them into service?

—We try to give reliable news at all times and we try to tell the truth; but we will not guarantee any print and publish about the U.S. war to be strictly true or accurate.

—The Globe wants to abolish the Senate, because the Senate is a burden to the Laurier Government, but that same argument would confer a favor on many of his race on this and on the other side of the international boundary line.

—The amount of interest taken off the small depositors in the Postal Savings Bank must seem too insignificant to be worthy of the consideration of Liberalism. When the man is buying for his children the school books printed by the monopoly created by G. W. Ross—London Free Press.

—In opposition the Grits posed as the friends of the poor. Now that they are ready to cut down the rate of interest on the poor man's hard earnings. They seem to think that the rate of interest on the poor man's hard earnings is too high.

—When Grover Cleveland was a young man he hired a substitute to fight his share in the country's battle. William McKinley, as a young man, went into the field and fought for his country. Grover's infamous Venezuelan message was rank, and William's treatment of the Span-Cuban affair up to date has been all that a brave man could do.

A Nervous Woman.

"I was completely run down and had a bad cough due to bronchitis. I was very nervous, but since taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I have more appetite and feel a great deal better. I have also used Hood's Sarsaparilla and find them very excellent." Mrs. M. McLEOD, 67 Crawford street, Toronto, Ont.

HOOD'S PILLS are easy to take, easy to operate. Cure indigestion, headache, biliousness, etc.

(Mail and Empire.)

We are paying $250,000 a year as the subsidy to the C.P.R. short line from Montreal through Maine to St. John. In order to circumvent that short line we are paying $750,000 a year for the rental and the operating of the Drummond line from Montreal to Lewis and St. John.

Mr. Tarte said in his speech in Parliament the other day: "I have every confidence that the Liberal party will celebrate its victory in the next general election on the Quebec bridge."

This bridge, for which a subsidy of a million dollars asked, is to connect Quebec and Lewis, and is thus to give an outlet to Montreal by way of Lewis and St. John.

So that we pay $250,000 a year for a railway, and then pay $750,000 a year for a second road to compete with the railway for which we are paying $250,000 a year. Are we paying $1,000,000 a year to compete with the road which costs $750,000 a year a competitor to the road for which we are paying $250,000 a year.

Are we paying half the cost for the construction and the expenses of Mr. Tarte?

These patriots have given the country the finger and the thumb, and the world has been able to learn the road is progressing just as it would have progressed if the Senate had approved of the Yukon road.

The facts disclosed by the Vancouver World show that the Yukon railway project has not been approved by the Senate. All the Senate did was to stop the whole scheme of the public domain, and the Senate's action stands as the last word spoken on the Yukon railway question at Ottawa this year. The C. P. R. and McKenna & Mann will build the rail, and the Senate will not let them.

What is the sense of the U.S. President calling for 100,000 volunteer troops? When that glorious country has several millions of Capitanis, Generals, and others of a like kind lying about loose, why not press them into service?

—We try to give reliable news at all times and we try to tell the truth; but we will not guarantee any print and publish about the U.S. war to be strictly true or accurate.

—The Globe wants to abolish the Senate, because the Senate is a burden to the Laurier Government, but that same argument would confer a favor on many of his race on this and on the other side of the international boundary line.

—The amount of interest taken off the small depositors in the Postal Savings Bank must seem too insignificant to be worthy of the consideration of Liberalism. When the man is buying for his children the school books printed by the monopoly created by G. W. Ross—London Free Press.

—In opposition the Grits posed as the friends of the poor. Now that they are ready to cut down the rate of interest on the poor man's hard earnings. They seem to think that the rate of interest on the poor man's hard earnings is too high.

—When Grover Cleveland was a young man he hired a substitute to fight his share in the country's battle. William McKinley, as a young man, went into the field and fought for his country. Grover's infamous Venezuelan message was rank, and William's treatment of the Span-Cuban affair up to date has been all that a brave man could do.

Israel Tarte's Fiscal Policy.

(Mail and Empire.)

We are paying $250,000 a year as the subsidy to the C.P.R. short line from Montreal through Maine to St. John. In order to circumvent that short line we are paying $750,000 a year for the rental and the operating of the Drummond line from Montreal to Lewis and St. John.

Mr. Tarte said in his speech in Parliament the other day: "I have every confidence that the Liberal party will celebrate its victory in the next general election on the Quebec bridge."

This bridge, for which a subsidy of a million dollars asked, is to connect Quebec and Lewis, and is thus to give an outlet to Montreal by way of Lewis and St. John.

So that we pay $250,000 a year for a railway, and then pay $750,000 a year for a second road to compete with the railway for which we are paying $250,000 a year. Are we paying $1,000,000 a year to compete with the road which costs $750,000 a year a competitor to the road for which we are paying $250,000 a year.

Are we paying half the cost for the construction and the expenses of Mr. Tarte?

Why These Tears.

(Toronto Telegram.)

Why all these tears in the columns of the paper of last Liberal journal?

Wherefore the outcry which goes up against the Senate as the unpatriotic assassin of Balfour's scheme for building a railway from Telegraph Creek to Teelin Lake?

According to the Vancouver World the emissaries of McKenna and Mann are building the railway, and the rail and supplies are being shipped in, the men are on the way. The alleged road and the wagon road are being built, and the country by the genius of Canada's immortal statesman are in progress of construction.

The action of the Senate has not pleased the sturdy hands of William McKenna and Daniel Mann's enterprise. These patriots have given the country the finger and the thumb, and the world has been able to learn the road is progressing just as it would have progressed if the Senate had approved of the Yukon road.

The facts disclosed by the Vancouver World show that the Yukon railway project has not been approved by the Senate. A "Useless" Senate.
Halifax Herald.
The Toronto Globe is demanding the abolition of the Senate on the alleged ground that it is "useless." But it is not the real ground why the Globe just now wants, or pretends to want, that body abolished. If the Senate were really useless, that is, if the Senate merely sat to record and assent to all measures passed by the Commons, in which case it would be quite useless, then the Globe would have no objection to its abolition. But it is just because the Senate has proved its supreme public usefulness, especially during the past two sessions, in dealing with sundry Government measures, that the Globe is so determined to abolish it. The Globe is not merely the public usefulness, and become merely the recording approver of all Government measures, regardless of their character, the Globe's cry for abolition would not only cease, but that versatile organ would be ready to decant on the constitutional excellency of a bicameral parliament. If the Senate were really a violent monster, that is, within the past few months.

WAR NOTES.
A Scare at New York—Rebels Reported Near Havana—Spanish Troops Landed at Porto Rico.
The Spanish steamship Alfonso XII. landed 1000 soldiers at San Juan, Porto Rico.
Search lights have been placed on the batteries at Havana.
Thirty thousand rebels are reported to be thirty miles of Havana.
A French cruiser has been sent to Porto Rico to watch the interests of that country.
A despatch from St. Petersburg states that after a conference of the Ambassadors of the powers on the subject of Cuba, Russia has declared it will support Spain.
Secretary Sherman said yesterday that for the present the insurgent army would do the greater part of the fighting in Cuba. He added that there was no intention of taking the militiamen and the new recruits into Cuba until thoroughly enured to the hardships of military life, and that probably the regulars also would be held in the country until later in the season. The Secretary expressed the opinion that Admiral Sampson's fleet would take the first opportunity to form a junction with Gomez's army.
The first Spanish shore fired at the American flag were directed against the torpedo boat Foote, Lieut. W. L. Rogers commanding, between 5 and 6 o'clock on Saturday evening, while she was taking soundings in Matanzas harbor.
The Spanish battleship Pelayo and two cruisers, which left Odiz a few days ago, are believed to have headed for New York, and a battle is expected off Block Island within a day or two. The United States monitor Jason has been placed in commission to protect New York harbor, and other vessels will come to her assistance. New York is almost panic-stricken over the news of the arrival of the Spanish warships, the news being accepted as authentic.
The Spanish Official Gazette yesterday published the instructions of the Spanish Government respecting the right of search of neutral vessels. In brief, they set out that warships may detain merchantmen in any neutral waters, and then examine the cargo, if the vessel is bound for a hostile port.
A cablegram from Madrid says: "About 20,000 Republicans have signed an address to Senator Canalejas, under the pretext of much wanting him to resign his recovery from sickness, but in reality offering him their support if he proclaims a Republic."

House Cleaning
Time is here, but much of the unpleasantness that generally accompanies it may be avoided by having good material to work with that produces satisfactory results.
We are headquarters for these requirements, such as whitening, kalmine, paints, alabaster, brushes, varnishes, emulsions, etc. Floor paints a specialty.—ALEX. RAY.
Adjourned Vestry Meeting.
The adjourned meeting of St. Thomas' Church Vestry was held last evening, Rev. Canon Burke presiding. The meeting was one of the most successful in the history of the church and the attendance was very large. The Auditor's report was presented by Mr. C. M. Stork, and being satisfactory, was adopted. The only other business of importance was the appointment of a curate, and Rev. Samuel Rhodes received the position for one year. Several members of the congregation bore testimony to Mr. Rhodes' ability as displayed since he has been in Belleville.
A Great Array.
Among the numerous theatrical candidates for professional recognition none comes with a greater array of sponsors of recognized ability in the profession than Apenta Water.
When such men as Professors Liebreich, Gerstaecker, Liebermann, Pouchet, Bogoslovsky, Tichborne and Althaus, as well as many men of standing in our own country, bear testimony to its constant value in diseases associated with portal congestion, there must be something in this water which makes it worthy of our careful consideration.
These Apenta springs, which are situated near Bad Nauheim, in the last bank of Danube, have a constant composition, an advantage for administration not possessed by all other natural waters.
Their therapeutic value depends upon the presence of sulphate of magnesium, sulphate of sodium, of which the former is in excess, and a small amount of lithia.—Milwaukee Medical Journal.

Not Satisfied.
The Literary Society of the Young Men's Christian Association feel that, while by their course of entertainment just completed they have placed good talent at a low figure before the people of Belleville, they have not made a financial success out of it, as the following figures will show:
Receipts Wood and Macy lectures. $206 25
Expenses Wood and Macy lectures. $173 83
Expenses concert. 58 00
$21 42
leaving a balance of $18.30 in the treasury.
Something About Cuba.
Rev. Mr. Cornwell will lecture to-night in the Baptist Church at 8 o'clock on Alberto J. Diaz, the Patriot and Apostle of Cuba. The lecture will relate the thrilling story of his rescue from the sea; his subsequent experiences as a missionary in Cuba, having been six times imprisoned and ultimately banished for preaching the gospel. Some interesting and reliable facts will be given as to the occurrences which have resulted in the present unhappy condition of the island, and the means, free, but a free will offering will be taken for the cause of missions.

Died in Norwood.
The remains of Miss Ella Butler, who died at Norwood of stomach trouble, were brought to the city at 11:20 to-day on the Peterborough train. They were put aboard the Ella Ross at 3 o'clock this afternoon for Demorestville, her home, where they will be interred to-morrow. She was 27 years of age and was a cousin of the Misses Symonds, Moira st.
Quietly Married.
A quiet marriage was celebrated in St. John's church at 10 o'clock on Sunday forenoon, when Miss Ella May Brandon was married to Mr. Thos. Wallace, both of Napawan. Rev. D. F. Bogert officiated. The bride is a niece of the Misses Mitchell, Napawan. They returned to Napawan yesterday.

That's one reason why they like to come here for Carpets and Curtains. Our stock is so extensive and varied that they are sure to find what they want. Where small dealers would show two or three patterns at the price we would be able to offer ten or twelve to select from. Just now our assortment is very complete in these lines in the latest spring styles. Months of preparation finds us ready to supply your House Furnishing wants.

ONE PRICE TO ALL.
Customers are constantly telling us that they like to trade here because of our strict adherence to the one price system. No person likes to find out after making a purchase that their neighbor has bought the same goods 5 or 10 per cent. lower in price. Our goods are all carefully marked at the closest possible margin of profit, and that is the price quoted and adhered to. No excessive prices quoted at the start with the expectation of customers "beating us down." Any salesman in our employ quoting a higher or lower price than that marked on the goods renders himself liable to instant dismissal.
A cordial invitation extended to all to come in and inspect our stock. No trouble to show goods.

A VICIOUS RUNAWAY.
A horse owned by Fred Slater was tied by a line at Large's grocery on Moira st. about 4:30 yesterday afternoon, when it became frightened and bolted towards the upper bridge. The animal crossed the bridge with the wagon to which it was attached and continued down Front st. Several vehicles on the street narrowly escaped being demolished by the furious animal and the wagon was scattered here and there along the street. Near the Queen's Hotel the horse ran into the Canadian Express Co.'s rig knocking down the animal and breaking the harness. The runaway was caught on South Front st. after it had run itself out and demolished the wagon and harness. Officer Morton grabbed the horse on Front st., but it tore from his grasp.

A PRETTY HOME WEDDING

Miss Bessie Yeomans and Dr. Charles B. Dyde Married.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at 1 p.m. to-day at the residence of Mr. Horace Yeomans, West Bridge st., when his daughter, Miss Bessie, was married to Dr. Charles B. Dyde, of Kingston. The bride was assisted by Miss Sutherland, of Kingston, and her bridesmaid, Miss Mary Yeomans. The groomsmen were, Miss Mary Yeomans and Mr. G. F. Fenwick, of Kingston.

A large number of guests witnessed the impressive ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Charles E. McIntyre in the spacious drawing rooms, which were beautifully decorated with flowers.

The bride's personal charms were heightened by a beautiful gown of white poplin. Miss Sutherland wore white and pink organdy and Miss Mary Yeomans wore white and mauve organdy.

After the ceremony the company partook of a wedding breakfast in the dining room, which was also elaborately decorated.

The newly married couple left on the 3:10 afternoon for Toronto and Chicago, en route for Grand Island, Neb., where Dr. Dyde has decided to locate.

Mr. Dyde was well known in his native city and esteemed for her many womanly charms. She had spent the past two years in Kingston, where she had numerous friends. Dr. Dyde is a native of Kingston, where he was educated and took his degree. The Intelligencer joins with the friends in the happy couple in congratulations.

THE SOUDAN CAMPAIGN.

Mahmud and Slatin Pasha Meet at Berber.

Arabs Desert the Khalifa, and Khartoum May be Taken Without Fighting.

A despatch says:—The entry of the Sirdar into Berber on Wednesday morning, April 20, at the head of Brigadier-General Macdonald's brigade was a fitting sequel to the brilliant victory at the Atbara. The route was kept by the troops of the garrison. The head of Brigadier-General Macdonald's brigade arrived at the southern extremity of the ramparts at seven o'clock, and at the same time the Sirdar, with Major-General Hunter and a brilliant staff, came in from Es-Silem. They were received by the cavalry in open lines under Colonel Broadwood. The Horse Artillery fired a salute of twenty-one guns. The troops then began their processionary march through Berber. Following the Sirdar and his staff came the prisoner, Mahmud, at the head of the two thousand dervish prisoners. The whole town was decorated, and the natives gave the Sirdar a most enthusiastic reception. Mahmud created the greatest interest, an enormous crowd struggling to obtain a good view of him.

The meeting between Mahmud and Slatin Pasha was a most dramatic one. Slatin reminded the captive general of their meetings in very different circumstances in former years, and Mahmud replied, "You wait till you get to Khartoum." [Slatin is an Austrian officer who was appointed by Gordon to the post of Governor of Dar. He was forced to capitulate to the Mahdi's forces; was a prisoner with Khalifa Abdullah's army near Khartoum when it was captured, and Gordon's head was shown to him on the day of his death. Nearly twelve years later he escaped to Assuan. He is a hero and knows the Soudan and Soudanese thoroughly.—En. (L.)]

The march of the Sirdar and his staff continued amid endless cheers till the central square of the town was reached. Here the Sirdar took up his position on a canopy platform, and the whole brigade marched past in review order, the bands playing, among other tunes, "The Men of Harlech" and "The March of the Cameron Men."

The demonstration made a great impression on the native population, and at its close the Berber notables waited on the Sirdar to offer their congratulations and thanks.

The most significant feature of the situation in the Soudan is the extraordinary enthusiasm of the population in the Berber province, who feel that at last they have been released from the most abominable tyranny in the world. In the trenches and on the banks of the Nile, the British were found many wretched creatures who had incurred the wrath of the Baggara chained to posts, and this may be taken as a sample of the rest of the territory which prevailed. Hence the spontaneity and genuineness of the popular manifestations to which the relief of the country they did considerable damage to the American torpedo boat destroyer, for she retreated, listing badly as she moved off. The commander of the gunboat was Antonio Herx Rendel. The American fleet is still sailing to and from in sight of Havana. Its presence has aroused the greatest enthusiasm throughout the Island for war.

GLADSTONE DEAD.

The "Grand Old Man's" Life Journey Ended.

A Sketch of His Career—The Greatest Parliamentary Orator That Ever Lived.

A cable despatch to-day announces the death of Mr. Gladstone this morning. William Ewart Gladstone was the fourth son of Sir John Gladstone and was born in Liverpool December 29th, 1809. In 1832 he entered Parliament as a High Church Tory, and during his long career gradually became an extreme Radical. As a parliamentary orator he towered above all his contemporaries, and he has been awarded the distinction of being the greatest political orator of any age or country. Four times he was Premier of England, and as a financier he was unequalled. He was a voluminous writer on many topics, and in all things a foremost figure. His end was not unexpected, but the news that he is dead will be received with general regret. When the history of the Victorian era is written, no other man will occupy so large a space in it as William Ewart Gladstone.

HEAD-ON COLLISION.

A Cyclist Da-dies Into a Hack Team and Receives Serious Injuries.

What might have proved a fatal accident occurred on Mill st. at 9:20 last evening. Walter R. Taylor, a clerk in the post office, was coming down Mill st. on the north side and when opposite Powell's rag shop he ran head-on into one of Lake's hack teams, driven by Arthur Graham, and so in an opposite direction.

According to Graham's version of the affair he was driving along at a moderate gait, when a street car passed him and a moment later he saw a wheelman coming straight for him and only a few feet away. He pulled his team up, but could not avert the collision. The horses became frightened and started to run away. He said Taylor was going very fast.

Two men who stood on the sidewalk and saw the accident say Taylor was going slowly, but that the hacks were racing.

Taylor was rolled over several times by the hack, but picked himself up and walked into Mr. J. A. Davis' house. Dr. Ekins was summoned and found a deep wound in one hip and several bad bruises on his body. He sewed up the wound and he was conveyed to his home. The injured young man, while badly bruised and shaken up, is expected to be about again in a short time.

He was riding a new wheel, which caught in the front axle of the hack and was badly smashed up.

Mr. Taylor is very near-sighted, and the hack was not having seen the hack approaching. The team ran about a hundred yards before they could be stopped.

Deputation from Peterborough

A deputation from the town of Peterborough, consisting of Mayor Davis, Councillors Wm. Langford, J. B. McWilliams and T. H. Hamilton and Town Engineer Belcher, came to the city to-day for the express purpose of looking at the granite pavement and inquiring into the cost, etc. They were given all the information they required by Mayor Johnson, City Clerk Robertson and others and were shown about the city.

If You are Subject to Cramps

You know how important it is to have a prompt remedy on hand. Nervine—nervine is a wonderful and infallible remedy for cramps. It relieves in one minute and cures in five. Pleasant to taste and the best remedy in the world for pain.

He Drank It.

An employee of a local bakery has a penchant for sweet milk and not only drinks all he can get his hands on, but on a wager of five cents this morning he drank a quart, and it was good measure too, for several drops of jalap had been put in it by a practical joker.

Here Rests Your Hope.

New remedies come and new remedies go, but Scott's Emulsion is the great rock foundation on which hope of recovery from weak throats and lungs must rest. It is the Standard of the World.

Road Club.

At a special meeting of the Belleville Road Club last evening in the Y.M.C.A. Parlor, Mr. G. E. Kendrick was elected Secretary and L. C. Lockett, Treasurer.

A number of members joined and a canvass is to be instituted at once among the new members.

and she jumped at the idea. I got a few for her, and she succeeded so well

that pupils are not to be had in summer, and she would be fortunate to make right hundred a year. Luckily,

I had more room than I needed in house, so there was no need to rent them to pay, and they are compensation for my wife when I'm away.

"At my invitation—yes, Miss Ra-von insists on paying house, but—

here Tom chuckled—"I was it to buy the pictures she put on sale in the shop when no one else buys them. I've got quite a collection of them, but I don't like to sell them. I know it's her heart, she doesn't know it."

"You have told me an interesting story," remarked the count, "and because I appreciate it I will buy some of the young lady's pictures myself.

You shall give me the name of the shop where they are to be sold. She shall also paint a picture to order for my house."

"The first good of you," said Tom, heartily. "She's a nice girl, but deserves a bit turn of the wheel. But

I beg pardon for setting off on the track of the house, you happened to touch on a spot right over my head. What rent would you like to pay?"

"I want to buy the house," said Tom,

heartily. "You might get it at a reasonable rent, as the house is under a cloud just now, as I was telling you,

but when it comes to buying it's another thing. Property up there is rising, and I don't know you would buy the house for less than it cost to build it—and that's not far off half a million."

"Who owns the house?" asked the count.

"It'll be his widow, I think—Bally

Machin that was."

"I wish to say no more than is necessary; but I must have the house

for my own in any case. It is probable, I may desire to make alterations

in it. And if property becomes more valuable then I could sell it afterward

for a profit."

"Yes; that's true. You'll pay half

Stonemasons and bricklayers are scarce in Kingston.
Customs Blanks, "Free" and "For Duty," at the Intelligencer Office.
There are five cases of appendicitis in the Belleville hospital, and the patients are all doing well.
The 15th Battalion has been invited to Kingston again for the 24th of May celebra- tion. The invitation is now in the hands of the officers, who are considering it.

Over a million bushels of wheat have been received at Kingston since last Satur- day and there are no signs of abating. The grain is driving a lot of grain by the Cana- dian route that would otherwise be sent to New York.

Ladies' Colored Shirts this year are exceed- ingly pretty. We have them with or with- out vesting tops, with or without lace, with- out buttons or lace, low or high. We be- lieve we can suit the most fastidious and fit them also, all our shoes being purchased from firms who know their business, and pay great attention to the fitting qualities of their goods. We show our stock—Haines & Lockett.

To-night the much talked of and novel Robertson and Steward dramatic concert takes place. Everyone is going, everybody is speaking about it. Dramatic sketches, it is something new in Belleville. The gentlemen will like the "Dramatic Sketch," it is a pretty little play. The quartet, as stated by Mr. Lalonde, ought of itself to fill the house. BATT. RIFLE MATCHES.
Some Good Scores Made—New Rifle Hard to Master.
About twenty-five officers and men of the 15th Battalion shot three matches on the rifle range yesterday afternoon and there were some good scores, notwith- standing it was the first shooting done this season by most of the men. The new rifle gives the marksmen. The new rifle gives the marksmen. The new rifle gives the marksmen.

The prizes offered aggregate $50.00 and were contributed by Mr. H. Corby, M.P., and the officers. Following will be found the scores in each match and the aggregate:

A LARGE DOCKET.

Magistrate Flint Says a Crematory for Flith Should be Established.

There was an unusually large number of cases in the Police Court this morning of more or less importance.

THE NEWSPAPER OF FLITH.
Samuel Reed, of Thurlow, was charged with allowing flith to be deposited on his premises. Witnesses swore that scavengers had been using the lot as a dumping ground for years, but there had never been any serious complaints from the neighbors.

The Magistrate said this dumping of flith in exposed lots must stop. The city should erect a crematory or dig a cess pool where it could be destroyed. Flith must surely follow the present mode of disposing of matter deleterious to the public health. He enlarged the case for a week for further enquiry.

MRS. SPRY AND HER TENANTS.
Mrs. Jonathan Spry has always had more or less trouble with her tenants, but her present difficulty is apparently more than she can bear. She had no less than five charges this morning. She alleged that Maria Baker owed her fifty cents rent and had her premises without paying it. Maria agreed to pay up.

Mrs. Spry charged Ephraim Babcock with abusive language; David Babcock with not paying rent; Herbert Foster with refusing to pay her rent and Mrs. Herbert Foster with assault. The pliff did not appear and the cases were all dismissed.

FRANK SMITH ON A TEAR.
Frank Smith a worthless character, was charged by Albert Clapper with abusive language. The Magistrate gave Smith a certain lecture and fined him $2.

Boys' Thieftory Suits.
Just the thing for lads 4 to 8 years of age. We have two very handsome lines at the Oak Hall for $3. The suit in these lines means coat and pants, and a very pretty front piece coming right up to the neck. When you see these suits you will be able to appreciate the value. Remember our price is only $3.00.

THE ASSAYER HERE

The Assay Office Will be Selected and Opened Right Away.

Mr. J. W. Wells, who has been appointed by the Provincial Government as assayer for the Belleville office, was in the city to-day. Although a young man Mr. Wells is fully qualified for the position, having taken a full course at the Kingston School of Mines.

He looked over several premises to-day in connection with A. Falkner and other aldermen, and as soon as the committee appointed to select an office can be called together, a place will be selected. It will on Monday be a few days when the plant will be installed and Belleville's long looked for assay office will be ready for business.

PERSONAL

...AND...
SOCIAL.

The Intelligencer invites all its readers to contribute to the columns all items of a personal nature, such as deaths or marriages, or notices of the movements of well-known people, business men, etc. All that is required is to send a post card or to telephone the In- telligencer.

Mr. W. A. Carson went east at noon.
Rev. T. J. Thompson is attending the convocation at Queen's University.

Mrs. J. B. Brown, of Picton, is visiting her sister, Miss Ross, John St.
Mr. M. B. Jamieson left to-day noon for St. Paul, where he expects to locate.

Mrs. Geo. W. Colborn, is in the city attending her daughter, Mrs. M. Moon. Mrs. John and Clarence Field left this morning for London, where they will reside in future.

A despatch from Hamilton, Ont., states that Miss Mary Keegan, the actress, has returned to Europe.
Mrs. Rev. J. Leach of Dalhousie, Que., has been visiting in the city for a visit of several weeks.

Mr. W. A. Lott, son of Ald. Lott, has enlisted in the United States volunteers at Springfield, Ill.

Mr. James Coulson was in Hangerford yesterday attending the wedding of his niece, Miss Howe, a daughter of Simon Howe.

Mr. Glenice Holmes, had to have a second operation performed on his left hand yesterday and we are sorry to hear he has been suffering a great deal.

Dr. Joseph Campbell will, by his physician's instructions, remain in the city and vicinity for several weeks to recuperate. His health is much improved since he got to Belleville.

Wm. Blair, G.T.R. engineer, of this city, will represent the Belleville and Brockville division at the forthcoming Convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers in St. Louis, Mo.

Bread Goes Up.
The price of bread has been increased 2c per loaf in Toronto and Montreal.

BOMBARDMENT OF MATANZAS

Further Details of the Apparently Bloodless Battle.

Matanzas lies at the head of a bay, about four miles from the sea. This bay, at its mouth, is three miles wide. On the west side of the bay is Point Rubal Cay, and on the east side Point Maya. These points have a very slight elevation above the sea, but the configuration of the har- bor is such as to give the batteries on them a commanding position. Stretching back from the sea batteries are hills, and it was believed the guns had been mounted somewhere there, concealed by the shrub- beries.

The New York led the way into the bay of Matanzas; the Puritan was a few hun- dred yards astern, on the port side, and the Cincinnati remained a slightly greater dis- tance astern on the starboard side. Lines drawn from ship to ship would have made an almost perfect triangle. Just astern of the Cincinnati was the Herald Mail and Empire despatch boat Somers N. Smith. She was under command of Commodore William Bazzell and Capt. Frank Dunn, and was the only newspaper boat in the Gulf within 20 miles of the engagement.

From the deck of the despatch boat not a human being could be seen on any of the ships. The crews were all at quarters, ready for the fun to begin. Nor could any living object be described on shore. The bay and shore at Matanzas were like the land and waters of No Man's land.

At a few minutes before 1 o'clock there was a puff of smoke from the east end shore, and an 8-inch shell whizzed toward the New York and fell short. Scarcely had the report died away than another puff of smoke floated upon the Point Maya side, and easily blew away. This shell also fell short.

The range of the east battery was nearly seven thousand yards, but the flagship promptly opened fire with one of her 8-inch guns. The engagement in a few minutes became general.

The shore and the bay were covered with the wind-blown smoke, while the howling from the hills roared with the cannonading. Continuing to cut loose with her guns, starboard and port as well as fore and aft, the New York steamed quickly in, and circled around to the west ward toward Point Rubal Cay, while the Puritan swung to starboard to engage the Maya batteries. The Maya battery was the most formidable, and the fire from it was most frequent, but the shells fell short.

The New York ignored this battery after a minute, and proceeded to pay all her at- tention to the battery on Point Rubal Cay, which was being pushed to completion.

It was a fine sight to see the target prac- tice of the New York. A big balloon of smoke would suddenly rise from her side. The eyes, following the direction of the shot, would see an instant later a great cloud of dust and fragments of concrete and mortar fly near the pier. Then would come a roar of the piece, sullen and heavy. The New York had soon re- duced the range from 7,000 to 3,000 yards, and shortly was tossing shells into Rubay Bay at the rate of about three a minute with wonderful precision and apparently great destructiveness.

In the meantime the Puritan was taking care of Point Maya. It was a long shot of the 8-inch gun. It was so well made that the only target was the infrequent smoke from the battery. But when the Puritan got the range her shells burst every time within the fortification.

The Puritan was doing fully as much harm on the east side of the bay as the New York was doing on the west side.

All this time the Cincinnati had remained out of the fight.

Captain Chester signalled for permission to engage, and it was granted by the flag- ship.

The Cincinnati, steamed up to within yards, broadside on, and began to fly with her guns at the batteries. The New York was just giving the signal to retire, when one defiant shot was fired from Rubal Cay. It was the last shot that day.

One of the big guns on the Puritan fol- lowed it. It was the best shot of the day. The 8-inch battery just where the gun was, tore its way into the earthworks, and exploded, doing great destruction.

Captain R. J. MacHugh, an artillery officer of the British army, who was a spec- tator of the engagement, said it was one of the best shots he had ever seen made.

Having practically demolished the Span- ish batteries, the ships stood out to sea. Not a shell had been fired by either ship, and there had been three narrow misses of the New York.

The Spanish fired shrapnel once, which burst above the ship, a shell had struck just off of her, and another struck just aft.

Another Rich Spanish Prize Captured by a Monitor.

(Special to the INTELLIGENCER.)
Key West, April 28.—The U. S. Monitor Terror captured the Spanish steamer Guido, bound from Corunna, Spain, for Havana yesterday. The ship had on board a large cargo of provisions and money intended for the Spanish troops in Cuba. The capture took place after a desperate chase.

KILLED BY SOLDIERS.

Colored Troopers Attack a Farmer Who Refused Whiskey to Them.

Chattanooga, April 27.—The sensation of the day at Camp Thomas was the prob- able murder of a farmer by four negro sol- diers late last night, and it is not improbable that a court-martial at Chickamauga will soon be trying United States regulars for their lives. Pope Redford, an old white man, living near Chickamauga, visited the camp yesterday and had a quarrel with some members of the Twenty-Fifth In- fantry (colored). It is said the farmer in- curred the enmity of the soldiers by refusing to give them a bottle of whiskey. Redford was attacked as he was leaving the camp, and so badly beaten that it is thought he will die. Suspicion points strongly to four members of Company "D," Twenty-Fifth Infantry. Arrests will probably be made to-morrow.

A PRESENTATION.

Mr. Mackenzie Bowell Jamieson Hon- ored by Bridge St. Methodist Church—An Address and a Gold Watch Presented to Him.

The largest of the suite of rooms of Bridge St. Sunday School rooms was well filled yesterday evening by the friends of Mr. M. B. Jamieson, who met to say good- bye to him, and in a tangible form to ex- press their respect for him and sorrow at his removal from the city. The Rev. C. E. McIntyre presided, Mr. Wm. Johnson read the address, Mr. F. E. O'Flynn pre- sented it, and Mr. P. C. Jones made the presentation of a gold watch. The follow- ing is the address:

Mr. M. B. Jamieson,
OUR DEAR FRIEND,—You have given your numerous friends in your native city unwelcome news, that you have decided to leave this city, where you are universally esteemed.

While we believe all our citizens who have reason to regret the highest regard for you, the members of Bridge St. con- gregation, who have known you well your "manner of life," have had special oppor- tunities of admiring you and seeing the Drive Master's life propelling and mould- ing yours.

For your conversion we rejoiced with the angels in heaven, and since then have ad- ded happiness as we have witnessed your de- velopment in grace, your consecration, your readiness of purpose, your willingness to allow the Holy Spirit to instruct, guide and strengthen you, yet the use of his word as your compass, and your willingness to be among your companions in many sor- rows, in the social circle, and as assistant Class Leader, Sunday School teacher, and President of the Epworth League of Christ- ian Endeavor.

Most sincerely do we regret your de- parture; we shall miss you. We know, however, that wherever you are you will be a "good soldier of Jesus Christ," and therefore that you go from us to fill the position which the "Captain of our Salvation" has assigned to you.

We ask your acceptance of this gold watch as a souvenir of the church and of the foundation of which hope of recovery from weak throats and lungs must rest. It is the Standard of the World.

On behalf of the congregation,
C. E. MCINTYRE,
Wm. JOHNSON,
P. E. O'FLYNN,
P. C. JONES,
Committee.

BELLEVILLE, 27th April, 1898.
The watch, which was purchased at the establishment of Mr. Allan McFee, is a beautiful and valuable gold hunting case one and bore this inscription:

To
Mr. M. B. Jamieson,
Bridge St. Methodist Church, Belleville,
27th April, 1898.

As Mr. Jamieson had not the slightest hint of the intended honor that awaited him, he made but a brief reply of thanks, and then for half an hour he was kept busy saying adieu to the warm-hearted friends who wished him early and heavenly blessings.

Here Rests Your Hope.

morning's adventure with the millionaire count. Finally the flowers arrive in two divisions, one for Mrs.
Bannick and one for Olympia and her mother.

This is too glorious!" exclaimed Tom's wife, kissing him. "I couldn't have another thing to-night. Tom,
you are an angel, and so is the count."
What sort of a looking man is he?"

"Oh, French style," replied Tom;
"blonde, with dark eyes; a handsome man, with a high forehead, and a stiff nose. He is a bit stiff in his manner, but that's only outside. We got to be quite chums before he left, and by the way, I remember half a dozen times feeling to myself that he was an old acquaintance, though I never met any one a bit like him before. I suppose all good fellows will like one another, somehow. But it was odd, all the same."

CHAPTER X.
ALONZO GARCIA.

Tom Bannick and his wife soon moved into their new quarters. Mrs. Ban-nick and Olympia accompanied them.
Olympia, indeed, had felt somewhat sensitive about keeping up such intimate relations with people now grown wealthy, but she yielded to the Ban-nicks' obviously sincere protestations.

At the price given for her picture by Count de Lisle and his promise to order another made her feel almost as if she were a millionaire.

One morning while she was painting
in the little room set apart for her studio, and her mother and Mrs. Ban-nick were out shopping, the Count de Lisle's card was brought in to her.

"He's come to give me the order,"
she said to herself, and reflecting that it would be businesslike to receive him
in her studio, palette in hand, she bade
the servant conduct him in.

He presently appeared, filling up the doorway with his tall, military figure.
Olympia, rising, glanced at his yellow,
upright hair, his shining eyeglasses,
and his short, pointed beard, and feared she would find him tiresome. But he had been so good to her friends and herself, and rumour made him out so extraordinary a personage, that she was disposed to make the most of any promising traits he might display.

"I interrupt you at your work?" said
he, bowing, and looking so very French,
and with so marked a French accent,
that Olympia unconsciously replied to him in French, which she spoke really
as well as her own. "Monsieur, monsieur," said she; "vous ne m'incom-modez pas. Je m'occupe de ma peinture, c'est de mon ouvrage que vous venez
me causer, n'est-ce pas?"

This evidently pleased the count very much, and put him completely at his ease. He sat down on the little sofa in the room, and Olympia, standing at her easel, but laid away her palette and brushes, and they were soon chatting together in the language of Paris.

With the freedom and vivacity of old acquaintance, Olympia did not feel the count stiff and rather portentous being that she had pictured him from Tom's description.

"And is this your first visit to America," she enquired at length.

"I had, at first, so much at home that I can hardly think it is my first,"
he replied, "and I am nearly decided to make this my home. France is not or ever will be, the France she was."

"Then, you are an Imperialist?" But we have no emperors here!"

"Frenchmen are not like Americans;
they need the sword. The de la Lises were Frenchmen generations before the first Napoleon left Corsica.
They were monarchists; but at present

prepare to meet the enemy's lines to the eastward and March, Metz. You may imagine, mademoiselle, the confusion.
It soon became construction, and with some, panic. Meanwhile the Germans encircled us, from the surrounding hills, their cannon played on us converging. We could do nothing;
what we could we tried. In the morning I had, at Napoleon's request, headed our line at Dalgny, and held it for two hours, and later, when Bouaz at last gave way, sent you
the Fifth and Eleventh corps at Floring and we were all being driven in upon our centre, I joined in the charges of our Seventh cavalry, and I believe it was there that I was the count.

"At any rate, I was pretty badly hurt
there, and late in the afternoon, while I lay inside the fortress, listening to the cannon and wondering if any one would be left alive by morning, the Emperor came in."

"He looked as if he had been wounded to death himself, and so he had, though not by sword or bullet. His heart and spirit were broken. But he saluted me courteously, and said:
"We are ruined, M. de Lisle. I am about to order the white flag to be hoisted. But I wish, before I do so, that it is not your fault that France falls to-day. You saw the remedy, and urged it; you have also exposed your life like a brave man, and in a manner to effect the best results.
You have done well, and I thank you.
In an hour I shall cease to be Emperor, and you will be free to follow up on what is in your power to bestow." He then gave me the cross from his breast, and put it in my hand.
I folded paper—the patent of nobility.
I have observed your conduct," he said, and provided this recognition of it. Had destiny been kind to us you should have been great in France."

"It was very nice of him," remarked Olympia. "I wonder you were such a man."

"I entreated him to go to America," continued the count, "and offered to undertake to bring him here.
I said: 'When these troubles are over France will ask for you again.
He answered that it was too late.
France will never forgive me this defeat,' he said; 'and, besides, I am a dying man.' I once thought there might be a future for me and had taken steps to assure it. But all that is past now. I shall retire to England. Do you go to America, if you will, and seek the fortune that I have lost. Other nations are old men, and among them secrets known only to himself. But I weary you, mademoiselle. With one story I have told you all."

But Olympia had been deeply interested. Beneath an outward quietude of speech, and manner there was in Count de Lisle a suppressed fire and
enthusiasm that fascinated the attention
and summoned pictures before the imagination. Fixing her eyes on his strong, refined features Olympia
wondered at the attraction he had over her. And when she looked away, she had a notion that he was somehow less a stranger than he seemed.

Some nature exercises a mutual magnetism over each other, so that when they meet, as if they had known each other before.

Olympia's fine organization had had no experience in impressions that had existence for ordinary people. The effect, in this instance, was a quietude
of speech, and manner there was in Count de Lisle a suppressed fire and
enthusiasm that fascinated the attention
and summoned pictures before the
imagination. Fixing her eyes on his
strong, refined features Olympia
wondered at the attraction he had
over her. And when she looked
away, she had a notion that he was
somehow less a stranger than he
seemed.

"How shall you amuse yourself in Paris?" she asked, with a short silence.

"I have made some plans," he said;
"but the first thing I wish to make the acquaintance of the people. That I must do quickly, for this is the time to give a ball at my new house,
and everyone who is anybody must be there. After that I shall be at home, and can attend to my own business. I am going to build a school of art."

Men's Clothing.

We are now ready to show you all the new things in Men's Clothing.

Suits that will give full satisfaction to the wearer in quality,
durability, style and appearance, as well as cost, are here
in full force. Careful dressers
and careful buyers are asked
to view them. You will find
that "all wool" means all wool
here; that the dye is above
suspicion, linings safe and suitable, the interlinings as
good as though in sight,
the thread, silk or linen, and
the cutting and making of superior order. Some business
men may think the suits we

sell at $5, $6.50, $7.50, $10 and $12 are unworthy their
consideration because our prices are so low—but remember, you wear the suit, not the price.

THE PROHIBITION PLEBISCITE.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier having, at the instance of a caucus of his followers in Parliament, foregone his idea, expressed last year, of attaching to the prohibition plebiscite a declaration as to direct taxation, the Globe triumphantly exclaims:

The malevolent ingenuity of the Opposition has recently taken the form of a declaration of the Government in connection with the plebiscite. The pledge of the Premier gave some cause for surprise, but the ingenuity of the Opposition is not to be faulted in the letter and the spirit. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has been very clever in his declaration of direct taxation submitted along with the question of prohibition.

To which the following from the Montreal Star, forms a direct and conclusive reply. They specifically include, says our contemporary, cider among the intoxicating beverages whose manufacture it is proposed to prohibit. Now, without entering into the controversy as to what extent cider is intoxicating—whether it be as deadly as "forty rod" or as harmless as Mr. Tarte's ginger ale—there are many people who are in favor of prohibiting all other kinds of intoxicants, but who both manufacture and defend cider. Hence the inclusion of this one little word to vote at the shire town.

Mr. Fitzpatrick has promised to take into consideration an amendment by Dr. Montague covering the cases of voters disqualified in Ontario by reason of refusal to take the pledge.

NOVA SCOTIA CONSERVATIVES.

Then the amendment brought by the Nova Scotia Conservatives was presented by the Solicitor-General.

By accepting the Nova Scotia provincial franchise, all Dominion voters are disqualified in Nova Scotia. The amendment, however, the reviewer is not supposed to place the names of such persons on the list.

In view of this, the Solicitor-General submitted an amendment, providing that the names of such persons be placed on the list by the Dominion voters.

After the amendment was presented by the Solicitor-General, providing that when more than one qualified voter are on the list in one polling division, the names of the voters shall be placed on the list in the order of their names as they appear in the electoral roll.

THE SPANISH LOSS OF LIFE.

Spain's Side of the First Bombardment Story.

Capt. General Blanco says in a Cable to Madrid that They Drove the American Fleet Off and That He Won the First Victory—Madrid, Spain, Takes Little Stock in the New York Story of the Right-Handed Victory.

London, April 29.—A Madrid dispatch gives the Spanish side of the Matanzas bombardment. Blanco called "the most of it to his Government. He says in effect that Spain has gained the first victory of the war, although at the cost of over one hundred and sixty lives and honored lives.

Blanco declares that the entire American fleet sailed toward Matanzas harbor, sending in a continuous fire. The American shells did considerable damage to the city. In the forts there were many casualties due to the bombardment of the Spanish gunners. The forts, after an hour's terrific fighting, he declares, succeeded in driving the American fleet away.

At They Tell It. Madrid, April 29.—The despatches from New York, telling of the bombardment of Matanzas, as the latter "conflict with the official reports."

The latter, in addition to saying the Americans were obliged to retreat, admit that "some damage was done to the town," also remarking that the American loss is not known. The forts of Havana, it is announced here, have not yet fired a single projectile, the cannon shots heard being those of the Spanish guns.

Spanish Fleet Waiting Action. An official despatch from Manila, capital of the Philippines, dated last night, says that the Spanish squadron, which has taken up a position several miles from Manila, is still awaiting the arrival of the United States fleet, under the command of Rear-Admiral Dewey.

The Governor's proclamation, appealing to the patriotism, honor and religious prejudices of the Spaniards, and otherwise inciting them to animosity against the Americans, is said to have had a great effect upon the people, who are alleged to be volunteering in large numbers, eager to repulse the enemy.

Secretary of State Found New Financier Willing to Help in Raising the Cash.

Washington, April 29.—Secretary of State Olney yesterday told New York where he had a conference yesterday with prominent bankers in regard to the proposed bond issue for raising the war fund. He was extremely satisfactory. All seemed disposed to do anything and everything possible to give any needed financial aid to the Government.

The popular loan idea and thought that the people would be glad to contribute to the war fund. Some of the bankers expressed doubt as to the ability of the Government to place such a large sum of money on the market. The Secretary, however, was not at all discouraged. He said that the Government was willing to do anything and everything possible to give any needed financial aid to the Government.

Before the debate upon the war revenue bill was resumed in the House yesterday, the Speaker, Mr. Cannon, announced that the bill had been passed by unanimous consent to repeal the limitations upon the purchase of quarters during the existing war with Spain.

SNAP SHOTS AT TIMELY TOPICS.

—The Spanish Admiral is a humble imitation of "Burr Rabbit." He "lays low."

—"Yellow Jack" may prove a stronger fighter in Cuba than "Uncle Sam." The latter may slay his thousands, but the former will kill him out of thousands.

—The Toronto Telegram captures a fresh cargo of bananas and thus keeps Uncle Sam supplied with the Fruits of Victory.

—A cable dispatch from London states that public opinion in London is veering towards Spain. Look out for a resumption of "tail-twisting" by certain United States newspapers which have lately been gushingly complimentary to the United States over the "bond of brotherhood" between Americans.

—The Government, remarks the Montreal Gazette, spent $291.95 for stamps to carry to Great Britain letters mailed by people who heard of it, William Mahony's "proclamation" of the rate of postage, but did not learn of the declaration withdrawing it. The sum is not large, considering the size of the Government's General made of the Government in connection with the fiasco.

—The "bottom facts" as to Uncle Sam's interest in Cuba are gradually leaking out. The Oswego Palladium, for instance, says:

While the policy of the United States is in opposition to annexation, it would seem as if there is no other alternative and that the end will be that Cuba will come under the protection of Uncle Sam. It may be some years before this is accomplished, but the beginning of that period is almost in sight.

—Some of our contemporaries talk of a "great sea fight" as nearly impending between the fleets of the United States and Spain. "In less than 24 hours," in fact—and one of them has evidently been very deep in the count of the number of miles from Havana, the question naturally arises, where will the material for the predicted unpleasantness be procured?

Higher Than Gilderoy's Kite.

This kite went pretty high, but not as high as we knocked a case of ECZEMA over 5 years standing for the same cure back but the Eczema disappeared for ever. Ryckman's Koteeney Cure did this. Mr. Sarah Rankin, 440 Park Ave., London, states under oath that she had the disease all over her body and was in constant pain and irritation, but that 8 bottles of Koteeney cured her after physicians had failed. She has no eruption on her body now, and like many others recommends the medicine that cured her.

A Curious Mixture.

During the German war there was considerable sarcasm levelled at the old Emperor's message to his Queen Augusta, and their frequent mention of the deity. One irreverent Englishman paraphrased one into:

"Ten thousand Frenchmen sent below, Prussia God from only his blessings flow." To draw the life-blood from their veins. That they may mangle, maim, and kill. And give us succor from on high. To work Thy righteous, holy will."

The incongruity of Christianity and war has seldom been more effectively shown so few lines.

23 CONSUMPTIVES DIE.

Appalling Record of One House in an Ohio Town.

From The Columbus (Ohio) State Journal.

A short time ago, Dr. Probst, Secretary of the State Board of Health, received a very interesting communication from Dr. G. S. G. of Mineral Point, Ohio, about the terrible disease, consumption, which has been doing such havoc in that place in the last few months. The Ohio Sanitary Bulletin, with the following introduction by the editor, Dr. Probst:

"We print an extremely interesting communication bearing upon the production of consumption. It indicates in the first place that consumption is essentially an indoor disease. There is no great probability that the germ which causes consumption is quickly destroyed when freely exposed to light and air. Indeed, it is a matter of conjecture, but has been demonstrated time and again. And while the practice of exposure, or spitting on the street is to be deprecated—whether by consumptives or other persons—the great danger comes from such material being cast into the air in the presence of the germ. It is a matter of fact that the germ will live for an unknown time—probably for years. It will be noted that the communication is dated from Mineral Point, Ohio, a place which has been gushingly complimentary to the United States over the 'bond of brotherhood' between Americans."

"The Government, remarks the Montreal Gazette, spent $291.95 for stamps to carry to Great Britain letters mailed by people who heard of it, William Mahony's 'proclamation' of the rate of postage, but did not learn of the declaration withdrawing it. The sum is not large, considering the size of the Government's General made of the Government in connection with the fiasco."

Another Sensational Advance in Liverpool—Breadstuffs Dearest in Britain and the Continent—Quotations.

Thursday Evening, April 28.

The wheat market was again very irregular, the feature being another sensational advance over night. In Liverpool the market was very quiet, with a few small orders being done at 28 to 29. Excellent Summary of the American Marines—One Shot From the Puritan Causes Great Destruction—Engagement Lasted 105 Minutes—Spanish Gunners Shot With Noise of the American Vessels Hit.

New York, April 29.—A despatch by Key West from a correspondent of the Herald, who was a witness of the bombardment of Matanzas by the American ships, says: Admiral Sampson on Wednesday afternoon bombarded Matanzas, and pretty well destroyed the Spanish batteries in position and in course of construction at the entrance of the harbor of Matanzas. He did it with the flag-ship New York, the monitor Puritan and gun cruiser Cincinnati.

Not one of the American ships was struck, the Spanish gunnery being wild. There is no sign of any movement on the part of the Spanish fleet. The number of dead and wounded on the Spanish side is not considerable.

While the New York, Puritan and Cincinnati were reconnoitering in force for the purpose of locating and destroying the formidable defenses being constructed, the ships were fired on by the batteries on Point Rubalcava and Point Mays, gunners on the Spanish side.

The New York fired, firing her forward eight-inch gun on the port side. She threw three shells into the water, and soon blew away with both broadsides at them. The Puritan steamed close to the New York, and fired her main battery. The Cincinnati fired her main battery.

FIRING AT HAVANA.

The Old Prison Fort Cabanas Silenced by the U. S. Fleet.

New York, April 30.—A despatch from Key West says the Cabanas fort at Havana, near the Morro Castle, has been silenced by the guns of the United States fleet.

[This fort is of an obsolete type and had few, if any, modern guns mounted on it. It was used as a military prison.—E.O. INTER.]

SPANISH FORTIFICATIONS.

How Their Principal Batteries at Havana are Constructed.

Kay West, April 29.—Mr. George Hyatt, an American mechanical engineer who has lived thirty years at Havana, said this morning that he was familiar with the construction of the Santa Clara battery, a little over a mile west of La Punta (point), Havana. It contains the most powerful guns of any battery near the city—four 12-inch guns—and is on a bluff forty feet above the water, but it offers no shelter to the guns. The guns, though the Spaniards think it is impossible to get the wall of the fort of rough stone, six feet thick at the bottom, four at the top, and high enough to conceal the guns' crews. Sand is piled in front of this wall to the crest of the slope, but slanting down at an angle of ten degrees. On this is placed a layer of T. railroad iron and on to the wall, and over that a foot or less of sand.

The Spaniards believe that shot striking the face of the fort will, on reaching the railroad iron glance clear.

The newer forts are made of sand, but are too thin to resist even an 8-inch shot. No guns mounted before Jan. 1 had this service charges have been used. He thinks they have had no sub-caliber practice, and is sure they have only had a little with half caliber guns. The Spaniards are not bad, but nothing like the Americans. The guns point through wide embrasures.

He thinks they will resist bombardment, however, and may do much better than any American fort. He expects a good many shots from their cannon to land.

One mortar pit of four 12-inch mortars is just west of Santa Clara. Another pit near Morro has two. The soldiers here never fired these for target practice. He thinks the foundation under the mortars of inadequate thickness and poor quality.

LORD WOLSELEY ON THE WAR

He Thinks Uncle Sam Will Win
in a Walk.

A Parallel Between Cuba and Crete—
While England Interfered in the Latter on Moral Grounds, the United States has more Moral and Material Justification for Intervention in Cuba—Uncle Sam Will Hunt the Trouble.

London, April 30.—A prominent Englishman who believes in the justice of America's cause, and who is also of the opinion that the United States will certainly have a walk-over, is Lord Wolseley, the commander-in-chief of the British forces. During a dinner party conversation, Lord Wolseley drew a parallel between Cuba and Crete, saying: "While England interfered in Crete on moral grounds, the United States has both moral and material justification for intervention in Cuba."

"I believe the quality of the American army and navy is so much superior to Spain's that the Americans will have no difficulty in defeating Spain's ships and land forces, which are the equals or superiors on paper only."

A DAY OF RUMORS.

The Blowing Up of Monitors and the Punishment of Traitors Were Yellow Yarn—Samson's Report.

Washington, April 30.—Yesterday was a day of alarming rumors, running all the way from the blowing up of a big monitor to the detection and punishment of traitors, but fortunately all of them turned out, on enquiry, to be without foundation. Actual events of importance were few in number. The news of the day of most interest was the departure from Cape Verde of the Spanish fleet, the stay of which at St. Vincent had been a source of anxiety on the part of the officials here, because it seemed to indicate that the sympathy of Portugal for Spain might lead her to join in a violation of neutrality laws in favor of Spain. Late in the afternoon a cablegram came to the State Department from Cape Verde, bearing the news that the Spanish fleet had started north, and that the four battleships and three torpedo boats had started north, and that the transports for Cuba, and that the northern fleet returned shortly, having been in collision. Because there was no signature attached, the officials did not know what importance to attach to this message, as these are not times to accept what appears to be information without close scrutiny.

Capt. Sampson sent a telegram relative to the firing at the Matanzas forts, but it was disappointingly lacking in detail.
The few words contained in the dispatch went to confirm the official view that the affair was nothing more than a naval reconnaissance.

WILL HUNT UP TROUBLE.

If the Spanish Fleet Will Not Come Out
the American Fleet Will Cross
the Atlantic.

New York, April 30.—A special to the Advertiser from Washington says: The Board of Strategy recommended
at a late hour Thursday evening that as soon as it becomes apparent that the Spanish fleet does not intend to cross the Atlantic, the Canary Islands, in the Mediterranean, probably the Island of Minorca, will be seized by the United States as a base of supplies. If the Spanish fleet does not come to us, the Board of Strategy has decided, that to end the Star the United States will cross the Atlantic, and one of the Balaire Islands
in the Mediterranean, probably the Island
of Minorca, will be seized by the United States as a base of supplies. If the Spanish fleet does not come to us, the Board of Strategy has decided, that to end the
Star the United States will cross the Atlantic, and one of the Balaire Islands
in the Mediterranean, probably the Island

States as a base of supplies.

CORBIN THROWS UP THE SPONGE.

It is reported that Mr. D. C. Corbin of Ketchikan River fame has thrown up the sponge and withdrawn his forces. It was the intention to endeavor to get the bill restored to the order paper this week, but finding that a clear majority of the House was against him, Mr. Corbin has decided to hold off until next year, when,
if the C.P.R. does not give up to its opponents, Mr. Corbin will certainly get his chance.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

Judge Dugas has been to present the report of the Crow's Nest Pass Commissioners.

Mr. James McNamee, ex-M.P., has been appointed harbormaster of Montreal.

CANADIAN TRADE GOOD.

Deflection of Business From U. S. Ports
Because of the War Has Helped Us, So Bradstreet Says.

New York, April 30.—Bradstreet says: Canadian trade is undeniably good, being held up by the war, and the deflection of considerable export trade
from this country to European channels.
Toronto reports hardware, iron and structural material in good demand, dry goods and groceries in fair demand. The Maritime Provinces have hurt seasonally, and the fish and molasses business have been injured by the war,
the latter product finding upward in price,
as is also provisions and freight rates.
Quite a general advance in prices is reported from Montreal, sugar, flour, wheat and linseed oil being particularly notable. Ocean navigation has formally ceased, but no shipments are yet reported.
Freight rates are firm and tend upwards. A good business is doing at Victoria and Vancouver. Shipping trade is active, and a large number of boats are being taken north. Business failures in Canada this week number 22, against 15
last; 21 in this week a year ago, and 26
in 1896. Canadian bank clearings against last week, a fraction of 1 per cent.
increase over last week, and 15.6 per cent.
increase over this week a year ago.

TO COME TO TORONTO.

The Recruiting Station for the First Battalion of the Leinster Regiment.

Halifax, April 30.—It is reported that the first battalion of the Leinster Regiment, soon to arrive here, is to be divided into two companies. The first company will be sent to the front, and the second company will be sent to the rear. It is also reported that the first company will be sent to the front, and the second company will be sent to the rear.

U. S. WAR NOTES.

The troopship Panther brought 800
marines to Key West Thursday.

The new American torpedo boat McCreck has made her trial trip, making 34 1/2 knots an hour.

The United States War Department has estimated that war expenses for the next two years will amount to $100,000,000.

Col. Mitchell A. Cochrane, in command of a brigade at Key West, has been ordered to hold his troops in readiness for immediate departure.

Miss Helen Gould of New York offered to contribute $100,000 to the American war fund. President McKinley has suggested to Miss Gould that the money be applied to purchase a war vessel to be presented to the navy.

The Norwegian steamer Orange has arrived at Savannah, Ga., from Matanzas and is now in quarantine. The Orange had aboard fifty women and children, Cuban refugees.

Arrangements are being made for the departure of foreigners from Havana before the city is bombarded. British, French, German, American and Italian warships are within easy reach of Cuban waters to take aboard their countrymen.
Admiral Sampson has five American ships
before the bombardment begins.

AFTER THE C.P.R.

Mr. Douglas's Bill to Regulate the Transit of Grain Taken Up in the Railway Committee—Ottawa Notes.

Ottawa, April 30.—The Railway Committee yesterday took up Mr. Douglas's bill to regulate the transit of grain in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories.
Mr. Douglas explained that the adoption by the C.P.R. of a standard elevator

volumes of evidence, for this greatest of
pain conquerors.

Rheumatism is curable—South Amer-

specific, and radically cures the most
stubborn cases in from one to three days.

A few doses of South American

many have been forced to give up their occupation as such. Parties making
small shipments, to have found it impossible to secure cars. The bill was framed for the commercial freedom of the Western farmer. He calculated that the abolition of the old system would cost
the farmers $1,000,000. The grain trade
of the west should not be subjected to such hampering conditions. After a conference with the C.P.R. officials, he was willing to insert an amendment limiting
the time that shippers may detain cars
for direct shipment.

Judge Clarke, on behalf of the C.P.R.,
asserted that the interests of that company and of the country are identical.
He admitted that it was wrong, and that it must be cured. The only question was as to the remedy. The present measures went much further than was at all necessary. If the elevator company did was blaming the Canadian Pacific for something which the elevator company ought to do. Without the elevators the farmers would never get the price for Pacific had no pecuniary interest in the ## Pneumatism?

A UNIVERSAL LIBERATOR.

Relief in six hours! What a glad message to the pain-racked, bed-ridden, dejected sufferer from rheumatism's cruel grasp—and this is a fact, borne out by volumes of evidence, for this greatest of
pain conquerors.

Rheumatism is curable—South American Rheumatism Cure is an absolute
specific, and radically cures the most
stubborn cases in from one to three days.

"I suffered intensely from rheumatism and sciatica. Tried many remedies and many physicians without any result.
A few doses of South American Rheumatism Cure wonderfully relieved me; two bottles cured me."—E. E. E. E.

containing 50,000 bushels, had practically shut out all the smaller dealers, and
many have been forced to give up their
occupation as such. Parties making
small shipments, to have found it impossible to secure cars. The bill was framed for the commercial freedom of the Western farmer. He calculated that the abolition of the old system would cost
the farmers $1,000,000. The grain trade
of the west should not be subjected to
such hampering conditions. After a conference with the C.P.R. officials, he was willing to insert an amendment limiting
the time that shippers may detain cars
for direct shipment.

Judge Clarke, on behalf of the C.P.R.,
asserted that the interests of that company and of the country are identical.
He admitted that it was wrong, and
that it must be cured. The only question
was as to the remedy. The present measures went much further than was at all necessary. If the elevator company did
